Nixon Asks Rail Strike Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by signalmen today paralyzed the nation's railroad system.

President Nixon quickly appealed to Congress to extend the contract of the striking unions until July 1 to provide time for more negotiations toward a voluntary settlement.

Both Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and House Speaker Carl Albert, DOkla., expressed doubt Congress could act today to end the walkout.

C. J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said in advance he would obey any act of Congress.

The union is asking for a 54 per cent increase over three years in wages averaging $3.78 hourly for skilled signalmen. The railroads offered a 42 per cent increase in 42 months.

The signalmen install and maintain electrical railroad signals. Chamberlain said the union's demand for extra pay is an "equity adjustment" aimed at raising their wages closer to the wages paid electricians outside the railroad industry.

Secretary of Labor James Hodgson said the union was demanding more money than most other rail unions already had settled for. He added:

"It is incredible that the half million employes of the rail industry should find themselves out of work and that millions of Americans should be subjected to service disruptions by this action taken by a relatively few employes."

Other large unions respected the picket lines of the 13,000member signlamen's union which represents about two per cent of all rail workers.

As the President's proposal went to Congress there was a question how soon it could be acted upon. Only routine business had been scheduled for today and many members were not present.

In a message to the Congress, made public at the Florida White House in Key Biscayne, Nixon said:

"A nationwide stoppage of rail srvice would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy. It is essential that our railroads continue to operate."

The President called on the Senate and House to promptly pass a joint resolution that, technically, would have the effect of extending until July 1 the present contract between the rail industry and the signalmen.

Nixon said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson would work during that period toward promoting a voluntary settlement. In the absence of a negotiated agreement, he called on Hodgson "to report to me and the Congress by June 21."

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted this was the third time Nixon has gone to Congress for hurry-up legislation to avert or halt a coast-to-coast rail shutdown.

"The Congress has been responsive on this in the past," said Zegler, adding that if the Senate and House act today, "very likely the railroads would be operating normally tomorrow."

Pending any congressional action to halt the rail strike, Nixon also signed an executive order listing priorities "as guidance and instructions to federal agencies, to shippers and to carriers" on what goods should be shipped first. These included foods, drugs and medical supplies, fuels needed for electric power production and some categories of mail.

Congress had made no special plans to handle the strike before it recessed for the weekend, and it was an open question how soon any legislation could be passed. It took a midnight session to put a stop to a one-day nationwide walkout by four other unions last December.

Today's strike by the AFLCIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen is the fourth nationwide rail walkout in 50 years. Although the 13,000 signalmen represent only two per cent of all rail workers, other large unions appeared to be honoring their picket lines as they spread across the country, starting at 6 a.m. local time in each time zone.

By 9 a.m. EDT a spokesman for the Federal Railroad Administration reported "a pretty well shutdown situation" as far west as Chicago, and predicted the rail industry would be at a virtual halt all across America by noon.

First to feel the strike were morning rail commuters in New York, Chicago and other larg cities. New York's stateowned Long Island Rail Road was still running because it bargains locally, but all other commuter and intercity passenger trains were affected, along with freight service. No exemptions were made for military cargo or perishable goods.

In Key Biscayne, Fla., where President Nixon was winding up a weekend sojourn, White House sources said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson was preparing legislation to send to Congress, probably by the end of the day.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Hodgson telephoned to say that the administration would submit emergency legislation sometime this morning.

There were spotty reports of some trains operating despite the strike. Chicago's South Shore and South Bend Rail Road was running because its signalmen belong to a different union. Missouri Pacific supervisory personnel manned skeleton crews in Little Rock, Ark., to continue operations there.

Supervisory personnel were being used to move livestock and perishable items, some railroads reported. The strike came despite government efforts to mediate a settlement between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference.

Hodgson, who announced at 12:30 a.m. that talks had collapsed and the union would go through with its strike threat, said the department would continue efforts to mediate. No further bargaining sessions were scheduled, however.

The government began emergency efforts to relieve strike effects. The Interstate Commerce Commission issued a temporary order allowing truck and bus lines to apply for expanded service. "There are numerous commodities that must be moved for the essential needs of the public and national defense," said ICC Chairman George M. Stafford.

Transportation Secretary John Volpe cancelled a trip to New York. A department spokesman said Volpe is involved in consideration of a possible executive order that would declare a national transportation emergency and set up government machinery to set priorities for different shipments and embargo movement of non-essential items. The spokesman said such an order wouldn't involve any government takeover of train service, however.

Postal Service Takes Stand To Justify Permanent Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service went to the stand today in an attempt to justify and make permanent the postage increases it already has put into effect temporarily.

Postal Service accountants and lawyers were the scheduled leadoff witnesses as the independent Postal Rate Commission opened hearings expected to last into the summer.

The hearings mark an historic moment of sorts in the nearly two centuries of the U.S. mails: For the first time since 1792, the price of stamps and other postage will be set not by Congress but outside the political arena.

The first mail-cost increases since Congress boosted the cost of first class postage to six cents in 1967 went into effect at midnight Saturday, despite attempts to stop them in U.S. District Court, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

Surface and airmail stamps now cost eight cents and 11 cents, respectively, and postcards six cents. Airmail cards went up to nine cents.

Charges for second and third class postage were increased by 20 to 30 per cent and special delivery rates were increased by one third.

Parcel post was raised an average of 15 per cent last November, and is not involved in the current situation.

Under last year's postal reform legislation, which created the corporate-like Postal Service and the independent, fivemember Postal Rate Commission, the cost of running the mails must be spread equally and equitably among its users.

According to the law, the rate commission must recommend rates to the Postal Service's board of governors. The governors on Feb. 1 sent the rate commission a proposed, $1.45 billion-a-year rate package, hoping that the commission would like it and recommend it right back. However, the law also requires the commission take testimony and evidence from the mail users who foot the bill and from a special section of the commission that represents the general public.

Some 57 organizations representing big mailers have signed up to be heard, including the Magazine Publishers Association, the American Newspapers Publishers Association and the Direct Mail Advertisers Association.

A BLAZING CAR was destroyed after it caught fire while traveling west on interstate 57, five miles west of Charleston near Bertrand at 5 p.m. Saturday. Occupants of the car escaped without injury. The driver of the car could not be identified by the highway patrol or Mississippi county sheriff's authorities.

Special Funds Used to Gather Evidence in Semo Drug Probe

Scott County Prosecutor Tom Gilmore disclosed this morning that Scott county, like Cape Girardeau county, used money from a special fund for the purchase of drugs during the two months prior to Wednesday night's three - county narcotic raids.

Gilmore said the funds, about $300, were used by two highway patrol undercover narcotics agents. The funds were taken from the major case expenses of the prosecutor's office.

More than $300 was alotted by the Cape Girardeau county court for the purchase of illegal drugs by undercover agents.

Cape Girardeau county sheriff's officers said this morning that Mark Harris, the sole suspect still unapprehended by police, has made arrangement through his attorney to surrender to police this afternoon in Jackson. Harris is charged with possession of narcotics.

Ronnie Lee Wyatt and James William McClure, both of Cape Girardeau, remain in custody in the Cape Girardeau county jail in Jackson.

Wyatt is charged with two counts of selling marijuana and selling LSD and stimulant drugs and is held under $5000 bond. McClure is held under $5,000 bond on two counts of possession of narcotics and selling LSD.

Keith Umfleet and Teresa Gale Graviett, both of Scott City, remain in the county jail in Benton.

Umfleet is charged with possession of narcotic drugs and the woman with sale of narcotics.

Cape Girardeau authorities report that a bomb, resembling a Molotov cocktail, was found in the apartment at 13 South Henderson in Cape Girardeau, one of four houses raided there. Authorities said it is possible that someone may be charged with having the bomb in his possession but added "It depends on labratory findings."

A state patrol laboratory in Jefferson City is examining material seized in the raids.

Rail Strike Felt Locally

Mail Affected, Freight Trains Halt

A nationwide railway strike this morning halted rail service to Sikeston on both the Missouri Pacific and the Frisco roads.

Representatives from both railroads said freight service was ended this morning following the announced strike by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen. The picket lines of the relatively small union are being honored by the more than 500,000 railway workers in the nation.

One Missouri Pacific train from Poplar Bluff to Sikeston made its scheduled run this morning. Officials of the railroad said the train left the terminal prior to the strike and completed its run to Sikeston.

The Missouri Pacific will not run tomorrow unless the strike is ended.

Picket lines have been established at Hayti and Chaffee on the Frisco.

A northbound Frisco train from Memphis to St. Louis was "tied up" at Chaffee this morning by picket lines at the rail terminal. Frisco official said the train would not complete its run to St. Louis today.

Frisco trains will not run tomorrow if an agreement has not been reached.

Postmaster Don Pasaka said this morning that the post office is placing an embargo on mailing or acceptance of second, third and fourth class mail addressed for delivery beyond the third parcel post zone.

The third parcel post zone includes an area outside a 400-mile radius of Sikeston.

Region Planners May Merge

MALDEN — Frank Iuen, of Jefferson City, Missouri liaison officer of the Ozark Regional Planning Commission, will discuss the Ozark Planning Commission's program and the possibility of the six Bootheel counties being included in its boundaries at a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Ozark Regional Planning Commission is a multi-state operation which includes Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. It matches federal monies to assist economic depressed areas.

Philip Shelton, executive director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, said if the six Bootheel counties become a part of the Ozark Regional Planning Commission, area towns would need to provide 20 per cent matching funds, the Ozark commission would provide 30 per cent of federal funds and the Bootheel commission would provide 50 per cent of federal funds.

Under the present set-up, the Bootheel commission provides 50 per cent and area towns provide 50 per cent.

The rate of assessment for towns and counties will also be set for the coming year beginning July 1 at Thursday's meeting.

Two Held In Michigan Killing

HAYTI — William Cole, 47, and Carlos Fain, 31, both of Benton Harbor, Mich., were apprehended by Pemiscot county Deputy Sheriff Gene James and three highway patrolemen in Hayti Sunday night on a Michigan warrant for investigation of murder.

The pair are suspected of killing a man and robbing him of $800 May 2 in a combination grocery store and tavern in South Haven, Mich., Pemiscot county authorities said today.

Authorities said the victim's name was not mentioned in the warrant but said he was the owner of the store and that he had been stabbed 11 times with a large knife between 2:10 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

Sheriff's authorities said the pair were apparently in the Hayti area because Cole was born at Braggadoccio and Fain was born at Trumann, Ark.

The pair are in Pemiscot county jail at Caruthersville and have waived extradiction to Michigan.

MISSOURI VETERANS OF WORLD WAR I OFFICERS installed Sunday following a three-day convention at the Ramada Inn are, from left, Department Commander, J. PORNOGRAPHY AND THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

When President Johnson wanted to set up a commission to study pornography a few years ago, the American Civil Liberties Union was opposed to it. The President set it up anyway, but the powerful ACLU took the Commission over. It used Commission funds to hire an executive of the ACLU as its chief counsel. Charles Keating, the only member on the Commission appointed by President Nixon, said putting an ACLU lawyer in charge was like "putting a burglar in charge of the jewels," since the ACLU had such a long record of opposing laws that curbed obscenity.

The results of the Commission were predictable: it called for the repeal of most of our existing laws against obscenity, arguing that pornography did not cause criminal behavior.

To sit back complacently and reason that smutty literature has its place is to condone national suicide. As columnist James Kilpatrick pointed out: "The heart and soul of this racket is not the grown-up sucker. It is the curious child ..."

Psychiatrists and police officials point to the results: rebellion against authority; venereal disease; illegitimate children; the shattered lives of unwed parents; an expanding population of sick perverts; a philosophy of self-indulgence that condones adultery, destroys the home, and threatens our whole society.

For the damaging results of salacious literature you need only look to the judges manning the juvenile courts of our nation. They pointed out at their national conference how pornography has had such a profound effect on our society that it is changing that very nature of juvenile delinquency. Said the chief psychiatrist of the County Court in Philadelphia: "The greatest single cause of sexual immorality in adolescents is pornography." Inspector Herbert Case of the Detroit Police Department said he has never yet seen a sex murder case where obscene literature was not involved. So testify the other experts, right on down the line. Let's find out how bad the smut is in our area and see what we can do about cleaning it up.

MEANING OF MASS PRODUCTION

One of the best examples of the meaning of mass production was published by an insurance information service which says, "A low priced auto costs $3,500 sitting brand new on the dealer's lot, but if you went out and bought each part separately, the total cost of that auto would be $7,500. To get the car assembled would cost at least another $7,500 for mechanics' labor charges ... so when you are talking about repairing an auto, a brand new car costs not $3,500 but $15,000."

Obviously, the difference between $3,500 and $15,000 is the saving obtained through mass production. Of course, mass production cannot be achieved for the benefit of 200 million people except through the facilities of so-called big business. Yet, ironically, it is big business that has drawn the heaviest criticism of the dissidents -- everyone of which, incidentally, is well equipped with the products of mass production.

There is very little difference in people, says Clement Stone, but that little difference makes a big difference. The little difference is attitude. The big difference is whether it is positive or negative.

Nowhere is this principle better illustrated than in the story of the young bride from the East who, during the last war, followed her husband to any Army camp on the edge of the desert in California. Living conditions were primitive at best, and he had advised against it, but she wanted to be with him.

The only housing they could find was a rundown shack near an Indian village. The heat was unbearable in the daytime — 115 degrees in the shade. The wind blew constantly, spreading dust and sand all over everything. The days were long and boring. Her only neighbors were the Indians, non of whom spoke English.

When her husband was ordered farther into the desert for two weeks of maneuvers, loneliness and the wretched living conditions got the best of her. She wrote to her mother that she was coming home — she just couldn't take any more. In a short time she received a reply which included these two lines:

Two men looked out from prison bars,
One saw mud, the other saw the stars.

She read the lines over and over and began to feel ashamed of herself. And she didn't really want to leave her husband. All right, she'd look for the stars.

In the following days she set out to make friends with the Indians. She asked them to teach her weaving and pottery. At first they were distant, but as soon as they sensed her interest was genuine they returned her freindship. She became fascinated with their culture, history — everything about them.

She began to study the desert as well, and soon it, too, changed from a desolate, forbidden place to a marvelous thing of beauty. She had her mother send her books. she studied the forms of the cacti, the yuccas and the Joshua trees. She collected sea shells that had been left there millions of years ago when he sands had been an ocean floor. Later, she became such an expert on the area that she wrote a book about it.

What had changed? Not the desert; not the Indians. Simply by changing her own attitude she had transformed a miserable experience into a highly rewarding one.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the best companion of all.

Unlike a cat, it does not have to be fed and pampered. Unlike a dog, it does not bark or have to be taken for a walk at the end of a leash.

Unlike another human being, it does not go away from you or lie down and die just when you need it most.

No, memory is the finest possible companion. It rarely intrudes, asks nothing for itself, and willingly extends its solace at any hour and silently holds out a helpful arm to tide one through any trouble.

You've got a good mixture of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when—

Half the people in America still kept chickens in the backyard, and one of the occupational problems of a burglar was how to prowl without waking up roosters.

When someone dropped an envelope instead of clinking cash into the church collection basket, everyone else in the pew spent the next 15 minutes wondering whether the envelope contained a $5 bill or a dime.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who, after eating a banana, would carefully place the skin, slippery side down, just off a curbstone in hope that a passing grownup would step on it.

Sooner or later every dog got fleas, sooner or later most kids came home from school with lice in their hair. Then their squirming heads had to be shaved and anointed with kerosene.

A fellow could give his best girl a box of chocolates and get a grateful kiss from her instead of a lot of whining about how he had wrecked her diet.

Unless an unusually interesting dogfight got started outside in the street, most people in America began yawning about 9:30 p.m.

In many small towns the local furniture dealer also sold coffins, discreetly kept in a separate small room at the back of the store.

A pedestrian had to look both ways before crossing any street—a habit the smart ones still keep.

Even some doctors felt that if you ate fish and drank milk at the same meal you ran a grave risk of being poisoned.

Folks going out for an evening hated to lock their doors for fear a neighbor would feel hurt if he ran over to borrow something and found himself unable to get in.

Practically everybody was optimistic about the future and felt sure the world was bound to get better.

Those were the days—remember?

Debt

On a gross debt basis, state debt per person was highest in Tennessee in 1967, $728, followed closely by Delaware at $704. Idaho had the lowest per capita state gross debt figure, $23. At the end of fiscal 1967, there was $31 billion of state gross long-term debt. The largest single component, $6.7 billion, was for toll highways. Indebtedness for state institutions of higher education totaled $5.0 billion; for local schools $2.7.

An Unworkable Remedy

Some may wonder why inflation has not been "controlled" by the imposition of wage and price controls. The answer is that such control means dictatorship of a kind that will work in a Democracy only when supported as an act of patriotism by the people.

A press release tells how wage and price controls worked in the United States during World War II. All businesses were licensed; if a licence was withdrawn for violation of the law, the businessmen was out of work and subject to a $5,000 fine and two years imprisonment. Ceiling prices on 160 important consumer items were required to be posted clearly on or near the merchandise. Rents were frozen at levels prevailing in March, 1942. There were no major wage increases during the war. The Office of Price Administration required most business and industry to supply quarterly more detailed information than the Internal Revenue Service had ever requested in its annual tax returns, Manfucturers were forbidden to change the quality, size, weight, lines of construction techniques of their products without prior approval. Most drivers were restricted to 5 gallons of gasoline per week.

Anyone who recalls the crippling red tape that accompanied the wage and price controls of World War II does not need to be told that they are unworkable except in a war emergency when patriotism is the leavening factor that makes them acceptable. There is no evidence of this kind of patriotism in the guns and butter economy of the present.

POLLUTION AT PEARLY GATES?

The United States Aerospace Defense Command (ADC) has reported that 1,877 manmade objects now occupy the space around us. Venus 7, a Soviet satellite designed to gather data on the planet Venus, is the latest.

Among this 1,877 are 400 earth - orbiting objects, 1,412 pieces of earth -orbiting debris, 33 probes into deeper space and 32 pieces of space - probe debris

Of these, 393 have been launched by Russia, 1,436 by the United States and the remainder by other nations and the European Space Research Organization. ADC's Space Defense Center beneath a mountain in Colorado keeps busy monitoring all this extraterrestial activity.

The Space Age was launched in 1957, so in just 13 years man has managed to clutter up the universe with an average of 12 objects per month.

One wonders: Will even heaven have a pollution problem?

H.L. Hunt Says

PING PONG GAME

The ping pong diplomacy of Richard Nixon, it is to be hoped, has deeper motives than appear on the surface. A former bare=knuckled fighter and antagonist of everything communist when he was in the Senate, Nixon has used a game of ping pong to crack the tough outer surface of Red China and has followed through with a relaxation of trade barriers. Surely, Nixon, the president and skilled politician, knows that the government of Red China is still as full of venom as ever and that their leaders have not changed their attitude toward us.

But Nixon, as commander-in-chief, has a tough job of extricating our armed forces from Indo-China and a yet even tougher job in securing the safe release of our prisoners of war now languishing in North Vietnamese prison camps. He was elected to office on the promise of getting our men "honorably" out of Indo-China. He still insists that that includes the prisoners.

Perhaps Red China is his trump card. He hasn't said so but it provides interesting speculation that the flashing of a smile instead of a smirk toward Peking might lead to bigger things.

It will be a master stroke if he can pull it off, provided he does not compromise in any way our accommodations with Nationalist China on Formosa and make further concessions to the communist world. If the POW issue is at stake in his dealings with the Chinese mainlanders, it must be handled delicately. And any fuel we might throw on the fire of mistrust existing between the communists of China and Russia will be a bonus.

While freedom lovers everywhere will--and should--remain skeptical of any dealings with the enemy, we can still hope for a coup in the Nixon strategy as long as our national honor is not disturbed. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

SCORCHING THE MAYOR: Linday's Presidential Campaign Network Jolted By Angry Blasts From Former Militant Labor Backers
By Victor Riesel

New York: It will come as a sad note to the 216 "Linday for President" clubs that the not-so-gay, not-so-swinging, not-so-flush mayor received a Dear John letter the other day.

It was from an old friend, a youngish labor leader, and it was hand-delivered over at "the Hall" since it was intended to bury him politically -- not praise him.

Ominously the letter began, "Dear Mr. Mayer." Grimly for John V. Lindsay, it was signed, "Sincerely" by the leader of this huge rock pile's big interracial municipal employes union, the 125,000-member District Council 37, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFLC-CIO).

The crisp and angry letter, kissing John Lindsay goodbye, was dispatched by the council's Executive Director Victor Gotbaum, who works in tandem with the 500,000-member national union's militant president, Jerry Wurf -- and therefore has considerable national political significance.

In many cities, especially the inner cities, this pile-driving union is the core of the liberal, black-Puerto Rican-Chicano-youth coalitions.

In the last New York mayoralty race in 1969 when the Republican Party rejected John Lindsay and he was forced to fight for political existence, Victor Gotbaum rushed in the money, the troops, the hardware needed to re-elect Linday on the frail Liberal Party ticket. Otherwise John V. Lindsay would have gone the way of Jimmy Roosevelt who once bid for mayor of Los Angeles.

Any permanent rift between Gotbaum's union and Mayor Linday, to whom the anti-Nixon California Rep. Paul McCloskey and the rootless former N. Y. Sen. Charles Goodell are looking as their man of strength, would dissolve much of John Lindsay's power base. Not only in New York, but deep within the inner cities.

The Dear John letter was rushed over to the Hall after Mayor Lindsay, setting the pattern for scores of other mayors, bucked the labor movement in the state legislature. The immediate issue was a bill which would have tightened the financial vise on pension funds and restricted the scope of collective bargaining between municipal unions and the "employer," by which Vic Gotbaum means "the boss," the blended image of the city and the mayor.

The angry labor leader split, as the street people say, in what appeared to be swift action. But it wasn't. The razor-edged letter came after a series of moves by Mayor Lindsay in the past six months which are signs of things to come in a thousand cities -- youth programs were curtailed; overtime, even for police, fire fighters and garbage collectors, was slashed in many fashions, which means lower pensions; a ferry was mothballed and park and cultural services were cut. So were street crossing school guards in Queens. Thousands of jobs were clipped off. The hiring freeze was turned from rhetoric into ice.

Privately the mayor told Gotbaum that there would be cuts in the uniformed services -- fewer cops, firemen and sanitation workers. Even the Health and Hospital Corp., the Board of Education, the Housing Authority, the City University of New York and the Board of Elections are about to be axed -- and the scalpeling will continue. The city has just outspent itself.

Thus, on Saturday, May 8, the municipal labor leader went over to "the mansion" and talked warmly and confidentially with John Lindsay. The mayor listened and appeared to promise Gotbaum what he sought -- support and easing of the pressure on the city's employes.

On May 9, the mayor issued a statement which backed the state bills being fought by Gotbaum and the other labor chiefs. On May 10, Gotbaum rushed his letter over to the man whom militant unionists everywhere had been seeing as the symbol of anti-urban blight. The man many of them had been talking of as the presidential image of our times. The man they had hoped would tackle Richard Nixon.

Young as he is, Gotbaum is an old infighter. He's polite only to elderly women and young children in a political fight. So his letter read like an Old English translation of today's underground journals.

"...I regret to state," wrote Gotbaum,"that this pattern of behavior is consistent with all of your actions in recent weeks, during the terrible crisis facing New York City. Your decisions have been made in isolation and your actions unilaterally taken -- despite the fact that groups and organizations representing millions of New Yorkers are vitally effected by these decisions and actions.

"Throughout the crisis period, yours has been government by phone call, by inner circle office meetings, and by finger pointing.

"As a former political supporter, I must say with great regret that your performance has been disappointing."

Then came an attack on the mayor's "executive leadership". All of which leaves John V. Lindsay with no labor base. Long ago he broke with the hard hats, meaning Peter Brennan who ran the mammoth mass rally virtually a year ago which put 100,000 construction workers into the streets around City Hall.

And Mayor Lindsay broke with Harry Van Arsdale, the influential Central Labor Council president who also is national treasurer of the powerful Electrical Workers Brotherhood. And the mayor can only get pins and needles from Lou Stulberg's International Ladies Garment Workers Union, biggest in the state.

Now Mr. Lindsay has lost many of the left-of-center unions -- and the right-on Victor Gotbaum.

Without a home base -- despite the availability of several million dollars from Eastern and Midwest liberal businessmen, John V. Lindsay has no real spring-board for a dive into national politics.

But what mayor, who must meet a payroll these days, has such a political springboard? And what mayor has a solvent city? It is as Jimmy Roosevelt once said ruefully: "It'd be best for John if he lost the election by some 10,000 votes. Then he'd be a hero and could join us in Congress again.

"You just don't make national hay collecting a city's garbage."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--The Navy is stuck with defective flight decks and other faulty helicopter facilities on more than 150 of its ships. The 740 drone helicopters built for the ships have either crashed, been crated and stored or otherwise retired from their anti-submarine work.

In the process, the Navy has squandered almost $1 billion in public funds. The admirals have hidden the magnitude of this loss from Congress and the nation. Even more outrageous, the Navy is still building the faulty gear into its newest, proudest destroyers.

The drone choppers themselves were phased out in 1966. They were supposed to clatter up from the ship platforms, zero in on subs and dispatch them with torpedo bombs. Instead, the drones plummted into the sea like rotten apples in a windstorm, or disappeared into the blue, never to be seen again.

The unmanned craft, called DASH for Drone Anti-Submarine Helicopter, even had bad luck on the ground. Three were burned in truck accidents. For reasons only the Navy knows, one of these Edsels of the air was consigned to the Smithsonian museum.

We learned of the billion-dollar boondoggle from a classified Navy report prepared by trouble shooter Rear Adm. John Bulkeley. The Navy had good reason to hastily classify this 168-page document.

In it, Bulkeley sizzled on discovering an "uncertified helo platform" on the USS Knox, one of a spanking new group of destroyers. He also turned up a "useless...hangar and JP-5 fueling system.

"DASH...platform can only be used as a Vert Rep pick up," he growled, meaning that choppers can hover to pick up or drop supplies, but cannot safely land on the platforms. The Admiral wrote that the Navy, not the contractors, were to blame. "Government Responsible" was his terse judgment of the goof.

We checked other Navy ships to find out whether the long-defunct DASH system had been built into them. We found more than 150 ships with bum platforms, faulty hangars, and useless control rooms.

The ships equipped to handle worthless drones, according to another internal Navy document, reads like a "Who's Who in the U.S. Fleet."

Among these are the destroyer USS J.P. Kennedy, the vaunted nuclear destroyer USS Truxton and even destroyer tenders like the USS Dixie. Some had been modernized with DASH platforms at huge expense long after the program was officially declared a flop.

Shamefaced Navy experts explained privately to my associate, Les Whitten, that barnacle-encrusted admirals had insisted on building the ships' platforms without ever being sure that the drones would work. When the unmanned choppers flopped into the sea, the admirals kept building more platforms in the hope that a new helicopter could be developed to use them. But the new helicopter program also fizzled.

Now, the Navy is praying that still another light-weight helicopter, or a heavier chopper will work. In either case, the old DASH facilities would have to be modified at extra cost to the taxpayer.

Officially, the Navy told us that the cost of the debacle was way below $1 billion. But it acknowledged that 386 of the drones had been lost, mostly through crashes. The rest have been mothballed at even more expense to the U.S. Treasury, or pressed into makeshift limited duties.

"Maybe," said one Navy wag gloomily, "we can put wheels on them and use them for go-carts."

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

Inside Dope--Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, got headlines when his narcotics subcommittee said drugs don't have a significant effect on military missions in Vietnam. Now, Jon Steinberg, who spent weeks in Vietnam for another Senate subcommittee, has disputed the Hughes findings in a letter to Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. Steinberg wrote that the Hughes staffers were only in Vietnam a week, were "riddled" by interparty dissension and failed to discover that "drug use by troops in the field is a definite cause of battlefield deaths." One forward aid station doctor told Steinberg of removing marijuana from dead and injured combat troops. The "grass" filled several sandbags a week. Hughes staffers denied the charges. Mafia in Market--The first big Senate hearings on Mafia influences in the stock market will begin shortly. They will be held before Senator John McClellan's Permanent Investigating Subcommittee. This is the same committee that proved the Mafia existed with its Valachi hearings eight years ago.

McClellan has found that the Mafia has been instrumental in siphoning off from Wall Street more than $100 million a year in stolen securities. His disclosures of names and firms will stun investors by showing how deeply organized crime has penetrated the brokerage business.

Bombings Continue--The new Federal Explosives Control Law, which restricts sales of explosives, hasn't stopped terrorists from rigging bombs. All the ingredients they need are still available. Toothbrush handles, for instance, contain useful mitrocellulose, and common gasoline and ammomium nitrate fertilizer can cause explosions. The terrorists usually hid their bombs in storage areas and restrooms. Two-way radios, used by bomb squads to search for bombs, have actually caused them to explode on occasion. The radio beam has caused premature detonation.

Mrs. Ronald Lee Grojean

Grojean-Ripple

HIAWATHA, Kans. — Patricia Anne Ripple and Ronald Lee Grojean were married at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Hiawatha, Kan., Saturday. The Rev. Norman Phillips and The Rev. Fr. Gilbert Walters of Atchison officiated.

Parents of the bride are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Edwards Ripple, Jr. of Hiawatha. Grojean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theon Francis Grojean of Sikeston, Mo.

The bride wore a white floor length gown of imported sheerganza and Venise lace. The gown had an empire bodice and high neckline with bands of Venise lace circling each. The cathedral length mantilla was of pure silk, imported English illusion bordered with Venise lace and fell from an organza bow. The bride carried a cascade of white daisies, chrysanthemums, and blue roses.

The maid of honor was Gretchen Ripple, cousin of the bride, of Dodge City. Bridesmaids were Jane Strahan, Hiawatha; Wendy Johnson, Dwight, Kansas and Suzanne Grojean, sister of the groom.

Kathy Grojean and Jeanne Grojean, sisters of the groom, lit tapers. Rings were carried by Gary Grojean, brother of the groom.

The best man was Robert Grojean, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Ensign Richard Smith, Meridian, Miss.; Terry Burke, Creston, Iowa; and Gary Ripple, brother of the bride. Ushers were James Schawninger, Columbia, Mo.; David Ripple, Manhattan, Kan.; Jim Isch, Morrill, Kan.; and Tom Gibbs, Reserve, Kan.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Westminister Hall of the church.

The bride is a senior enrolled at Kansas State University, Manhattan; where she is a member in Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism society; Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economics honorary; Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary; and Home Economics Journalism Club.

Grojean received a professional degree in architecture May 14 from Kansas State University. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and the American Institute of Architects, on July 16 he will receive an officers commission in the army.

The press became known as the Fourth Estate in the 18th century when the Reporters' Gallery in the British House of Commons was first called the "fourth estate."

Ann Landers

Scrooge's Wife Unhappy With Tight-Fisted Conduct

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word to "Marmaduke Crumbum," the guy who wanted to know how to go about changing his name legally because it was so different? He doesn't know how lucky he is to have a name that is out of the ordinary.

My name is not Joe Smith but its equally common. I hate it. Wherever I go I am one of many. In school it was always a mess. In the Army it was worse. I was forever getting somebody else's mail. Now, it's a problem with the bills. And since the computers handle everything, there's no way out.

My wife and I have agreed to give our children ridiculously far-out names so that no one will ever forget them. People may laugh, but they WILL remember. — Joe

Dear Joe: In behalf of Birdseed Willson, Tonsilitis Moore and Numbersgame Jones, I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: Is there a cure for a man who is so tight with money that he makes his wife's life hell? My husband earns a good salary — has for many years. But he is so afraid of being poor again that he counts pennies. He makes $1500 a month and our expenses run about $300. He must have a small fortune saved. When I ask him what we have in the bank he says, "Enough so we won't starve if something happens to my job."

As time goes on he becomes worse instead of better. We cannot enjoy life because he is so tight-fisted he won't spend money to see a movie and gets mad when I go. He never wants to eat out because it's cheaper to eat at home. When I ask him for money to make a donation to a worthy cause he says, "Who will take care of US when we are down and out?"

Can extreme poverty in childhood do this to a person? Please help me understand, and tell me what to do. — Scrooge's Wife

Dear Wife: Yes — extreme poverty in childhood CAN do that to a person, and this is probably what happened to your husband. Poor fellow has a clinker in his thinker.

Statistically you will survive Scrooge. This means he will have scrimped and saved all of his life, denying himself many simple pleasures because he was unable to part with a buck. Sad. My condolences to him and to others who suffer from the same illness.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in regard to the 11-year-old who had problems with his musical interests.

When I was nine I started to play the clarinet on a three-month trial basis. After the three months were up the teacher told my folks I had talent and they were advised to buy the clarinet. They dished out the $150, which was a lot of money to them. A week later I decided I wanted to play the flute. My parents said "no." I was pretty mad and said I wouldn't play any instrument if I couldn't play the flute. My dad said, "We bought you the clarinet and you'll play it or nothing. After you are good at it we'll consider a second instrument."

I sulked for two years then decided they weren't going to give in. I realized what a fool I'd been. All the kids in the band had been enjoying themselves, taking trips, etc. and I had missed out. So I decided to go back to the clarinet.

It's eight years later and I am really an expert. My dad kept his bargain and next week I start with the flute.

So tell those kids out there to stay with one instrument until they can play it well. They will be glad they did. — Future Music Teacher

Dear Teach: You struck a sweet chord with me. Thanks for the harmony.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Astros End Slump At Cards Expense

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Astros, who have been suffering a famine of runs lately, turned gluttons Sunday, swamping the St. Louis Cardinals 12-4.

Astro third baseman Doug Rader led the hitting parade, slamming a first inning homer with the bases loaded to shoot the Astos into a quick 4-0 lead.

Afterward, Rader, who had been having his hitting problems, credited the turnaround to Astro Manager Harry Walker.

"I might not be out of my slump yet except for Harry," Rader said. "He took me up to his room in New York during the last Astro road trip and he talked to me an hour about my problems."

That night in New York, Rader shattered an 0-for-28 slump and the next day he helped beat the Mets' Tom Seaver with a three-run homer.

In the past two games, Rader has banged out four hits. Sunday he knocked in six runs, adding a two run double in the third to his grand slam effort.

"If players hit, they get all the credit. If they don't hit, the manager gets the blame," Rader said. "I don't think it's right. How can you blame someone else for the fact that I'm not hitting? If anyone is to blame, it is me."

The Astro explosion of runs gave Larry Dierker his sixth victory of the year against one loss. Jerry Reuss, now 4-3, started the game for the Cards but was pulled in the second and he took the loss.

Revson Sets Pace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Three gleaming memorials to the late Bruce McLaren, British auto racing genius, will start one, two and four in the 55th 500-mile race May 29 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The new Mark 16 McLarens dominated the first weekend of 10-mile time trials to be completed next Saturday and Sunday.

Peter Revson of New York won the pole position and about $15,000 in cash and accessory prizes, with a record four-lap average of 178.696 m.p.h.

Mark Donohue, who had done over 180 in practice with a twin to the Offenhauser-powered Revson car, had to settle for second—the inside of the threecar front row—at 177.087.

Bruce McLaren's London factory staff has carried on with built-in efficiency since he was killed a few days after last year's Indianapolis race, testing a new car for the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series. He had left Indianapolis disappointed by the breakdown of his car, driven also by Revson, less than halfway through the 500.

Bobby Unser, 1968 Indy winner, prevented a sweep by the Mark 16s in this year's time trials, by putting one of Dan Gurney's Eagle-Offenhausers on the outside of the front row at 175.816.

The first 26 qualifiers averaged 171.458 m.p.h., compared with the previous record of 167.076 for the same stage in last year's trials.

New Zealander Denis Hulme, teammate of Revson on the McLaren factory team, was fourth-fastest at 174.910 and will start in the second row just behind Revson. Donohue's Mark 16 is owned by road racer Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who helped develop it.

SEMO State Claims MIAA Track Title

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Southeast Missouri State boasted the best team balance and newcomer Lincoln University the fastest athlete during Saturday's Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association track meet.

Southeast scored 68½ points for the team title, followed by Northeast Missouri State with 59, Lincoln with 58 and Southwest Missouri State with 34.

Trailing were host MissouriRolla, 21; Northwest Missouri State, 17½, and Central Missouri State, 14.

Lincoln's James Amerison was voted the meet's standout with triumphs of 9.3 in the 100yard dash and 21.4 in the 220 and anchor for the winning 440yard relay team.

Russell Orms' 73-74-147 sparked Southwest Missouri to the MIAA golf title with a 770 team score. Missouri-Rolla was second at 804, Northeast Missouri third at 815 and Northwest fourth at 820.

Other team golf scores, Central 822, Southeast 837, Lincoln 840.

Northwest Missouri State won the tennis title with 45 points to runnerup Northeast's 43. Missouri-Rolla scored 8 points, Southeast 5, Southwest 4 and Central 1. Lincoln failed to score.

Liquori Claims Mile

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Marty Liquori beat Jim Ryun in their super mile Sunday by challenging the world record holder in his specialty - an unbeatable finishing kick.

The one thing Liquori was that Ryun would outkick him in the stretch in the feature event of the Martin Luther King Games. He thought Ryun was stronger and that if the race was close, nobody could beat the former Kansas star in the final 200 yards.

Well, Ryun was close in the stretch. He was a step behind Liquori with 200 yards to go. Surprise! Liquori never let him gain an inchnd won by a step in 3:54.6, the fastest mile ever recorded in the eastern United States.

Franklin Tops State Class M in Dashes

COLUMBIA — Despite an attempt by Henry Franklin to bring his East Prairie high school its second state high school track title, Warrensburg college high out-pointed the Eagles, state indoor champs, 20-14, and claimed the outdoor track and field honors Saturday at University of Missouri Memorial stadium.

Franklin remained the top dash runner in class M by claiming 220 and 100 yard dash honors. He claimed both in the indoor meet and was the outdoor's only double winner.

East Prairie's 880-yard relay team collected the only other Eagle points by placing fourth.

Caruthersville's Chris Hoskins scored five points by placing fourth in the shot and third in the 100-yard dash while Portageville, Southeast Missouri's only other representative among the teams to place, picked up one point on Rickey Foster's fifth place in the 180-yard low hurdles.

St. Mary's of Independence won the class S title with 24 points while DeKalb was second with 23 and Springfield Greenwood next with 22.

Pitching Duel Set

Southeast Missouri's top two high school baseball pitchers, Don Miller of Sikeston and Mark Littell of Gideon, matched fast balls at VFW stadium today at 4 p.m. They sought to lead their teams to the sectional championship and into Friday's regional game at Cape Girardeau.

The SHS diamond crew of Coach N. P. McDaniel went 12 innings last week to beat another top district hurler, Mark Hogan of Cape Girardeau Central, while Gideon made easy work of Neelyville in its district encounter.

Sikeston high is the defending sectional champion. It advanced to the regionals last season before bowing to the state champion, Lafayette.

ABA Final Tuesday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Utah Stars and Kentucky Colonels head back to Utah Tuesday for the championship game of the American Basketball Association title series.

Kentucky's 105-102 victory in the nationally televised sixth game Saturday in Louisville left the series knotted at 3-3, with a sellout crwod of 13,000plus assured for the finale in Salt Lake City's Salt Palace.

If past records hold, Utah will take the title. Utah has won all six meetings between the two teams in Salt Lake City this season, including three in the playoffs.

The Salt Lake City altitude, over 4,000 feet, has bothered some Kentucky players, who said they had trouble breathing in the thin air.

"You really drag after awhile," says Colonel guard Louie Dampier. "Someti mes it's really tough to catch your breath.'

Colonels president Mike Storen said club officials didn't consider the altitude enough of a problem to provide sideline oxygen for the Colonels, however.

This is only the second time in the ABA's five-year history the championship series has gone the full seven games, the first having been Pittsburgh's seven-game win over New Orleans in 1968.

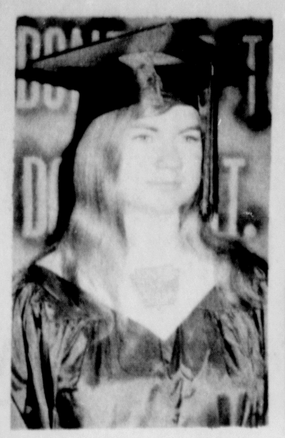
BALLERINA'S MEMENTOES

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — A collection of mementoes recalling the career of one of prerevolutionary Russia's prima ballerinas has been given to the Wilbur Cross Library at the University of Connecticut.

The materials — photos, ballet programs, clippings, etc. — trace the career of Margarita Froman who died a year ago. The collection was donated by her sister, Olga Froman, who lives in Willimantic, Conn.

Born in Moscow of Swedish and Russian parents, Margarita Froman was prima ballerina with both the Bolshoi Ballet and Diaghilev's Ballets Russes.

Valedictorian Named At East Prairie



Jo Ann Fourthman

Dane Hurt

EAST PRAIRIE – Miss Jo Ann Fourthman, daughter of Mrs. Cora Fourthman, has been named valedictorian of the 1970-71 graduating class of East Prairie high school with a grade point average of 10.685 from a possible 11.

Salutatorian Richard Dane Hurt, son of Mrs. James Smith, has a grade average of 10.250 to take second place honors in the class of 83.

Miss Fourthman is a member of the National Honor Society and received the Daughter of the American Revolution Award. Other awards during her high school years include speech I, silver typing award, biology, English III, Beauton Long award and 80 words per minute shorthand award.

She plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau and major in business administration.

Hurt received the curator's scholarship to the University of Missouri and plans to major in civil engineering and business administration.

Active in basketball and track his first three years of high school, he serves as president of the Lettermen's Club and is a member of the student council. Other awards received during his high school years include general shop, mechanical drawing, general metals and the gold typing.

He has been an active member of the marching band four years and is a member of the stage band. Hurt serves as president of the high school class of the First Christian church.

Utility Merger Would Involve SeMo Counties

ST. LOUIS (AP)--Discussions for possible merger of the two utilities were announced Thursday by Laclede Gas Co. of St. Louis and Missouri Natural Gas Co. of Farmington, Mo.

Under the proposed merger, according to the announcement, Laclede Gas would acquire at least 80 per cent of Missouri Natural's outstanding common stock.

Laclede Gas is supplier of natural gas to St. Louis city and county and to the northern half of bordering Jefferson County.

Parts of Jefferson, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Madison and Iron counties are served by Missouri Natural, which also serves Poplar Bluff in Butler County.

Any acquisition agreed on by the two utilities would be subject to approval by the Missouri Public Service Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

British playwright Thomas Morton was prolific and popular in his day, but he is now all but forgotten except for one character, Mrs. Grundy, who is never even seen on stage in "Speed the Plough" (1798), but who is always present. Dame Ashfield, The World Almanac notes, continually worries whether her neighbor, Mrs. Grundy, will think her proper and respectable. Mrs. Grundy is now a symbol of slavish conformity to conventions.

Jerry Lee Lewis And Wife Agree To Divorce Terms

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Jerry Lee Lewis and his wife agreed Wednesday to a divorce and a property settlement that would give her more than $148,000 over the next five years.

The uncontested divorce decree was issued by a circuit court judge, ending the 13-year marriage of the entertainer and his first cousin whom he married when she was 13 years old.

She charged cruel and inhuman treatment and accused Lewis of drinking constantly and "acting improperly with other women."

Mrs. Lewis filed for divorce last Nov. 9 giving her age as 26 and his as 35.

State College Budget Sails By in Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The budget for Missouri's state colleges and universities sailed through the Senate Thursday on a 27-1 vote with only one change and little debate.

Sen. Truman E. Wilson, D-St. Joseph, amended the measure to shift funds for Northeast Missouri and Northwest Missouri state colleges but did not alter total appropriations for the two schools. There was no opposition.

Wilson explained 24 per cent of the colleges' operating budgets comes from tuition. With increased out of state tuition fees, administrators are fearful of keeping the operating ratio required for the financial formula.

All his amendment did was shift about $500,000 from college funds to come from general revenue to be re-appropriated so nothing additional would come from state money, he said.

Otherwise the bill went back to the House with the cuts imposed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Reunion of P51 Fighter Pilots To Be Held

ST. LOUIS (AP)–A reunion of World War II P51 fighter pilots May 30-31 is scheduled to be attended by Peter Townsend, former British fighter ace, and Col. Erich Hartmann, who was Germany's top fighter pilot.

The reunion is billed "Mustang Scramble" and will feature air races between Milwaukee and the East Alton, Ill., Civic Memorial Airport north of St. Louis.

Townsend, who lives near Paris, is credited with shooting down 12 German planes as an RAF pilot. He later received world-wide attention by becoming engaged to Princess Margaret. The engagement was broken after publicity concerning his previous divorce. He married a Belgian woman in 1959.

Hartmann, who recently resigned from the West German Luftwaffe, is credited with 353 aerial victories, mostly on the Eastern front against the Russians. He spent 10 years in a Russian prison camp following the war.

The reunion is sponsored by Don Volkmer, head of Volkerluft International in Addison, Tex.

Eureka Springs Will Display Arts and Crafts

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark.--The Little Switzerland of the Ozarks, will be host to the seventh annual Arts and Crafts Sidewalk Fair May 28-30.

For those three days, the sidewalks will boast a colorful array of paintings, sculpture, wood-carvings, jewelry, weaving, and many other handicrafts exhibited by more than 100 artists.

There is no admission charge and visitors strolling through town are sure to find something new around every corner.

Many of the artists and craftsmen will work and demonstrate their skills. Eureka Springs has art galleries and an abundance of shops.

There is a small entry fee and each exhibitor is responsible for setting up and displaying his work. No commission is charged for sales. The closing date for entries is Friday.

In addition to the Sidewalk Fair planned for Memorial Day weekend, the Great Passion Play will open its fourth season, May 28. A new entertainment will begin on May 27, the Fun Mountain Jubilee, with two shows daily.

Artists, craftsmen, and visitors are invited to contact the Chamber of Commerce for entry blanks and more information.

Redistribution Of Population Called Vital

KANSAS CITY (AP)--Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin said Monday that redistribution of the nation's population from coast to coast is necessary if rural areas are to be revitalized.

Hardin addressed the Midwest Regional Conference on Rural Economic Development. It was the first of four regional meetings with others scheduled in Las Vegas, Memphis and Philadelphia.

Randy South Wins Scholastic Honor

PARMA–James Lovett, assistant superintendent of Parma high school, today announced the winners of the school's highest scholastic awards.

Randy South is valedictorian, with an average of 7.35. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George South of Parma.

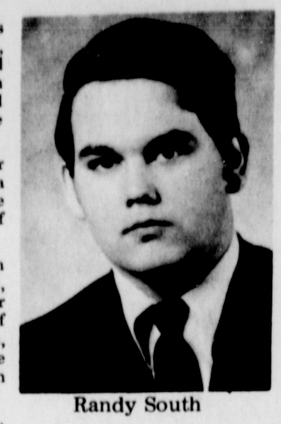
The salutatorian, with an average of 7.33, is Michelle Stewart, daughter of Naron Stewart of El Paso and Mrs. Elaine Austin, of Parma.

South is a member of the Parma high school drama club, the baseball team, has served on the pep club four years, and was the basketball manager for the 1970-71 season. He has played the clarinet in the high school band two years.

In 1968 he was awarded the general science medal, 1969 the biology medal, 1970, and the geometry, typing and French medals.

He is a member of the Maple Grove Baptist church and its committee of Youth Rally.

He will enter the Memphis School of Commerce, working toward a major in automation accounting and electronic data processing.



Randy South

Miss Stewat has won awards in algebra I and II, English I, home economic II, shorthand I, and student activities in 1970. She received the school letters and bars for making the honor roll every quarter.

She has been majorette four years, cheerleader four years, a member of the band three years, Future Homemakers of America member four years.

She was a class officer in her freshman and junior years, an F.H.A. officer in her junior and senior year, a member of the student council three years, and an officer two years. She was elected fall festival queen in her freshman year.

She attends the First Baptist church.

She plans to enter Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

$13,792 In Tax Collections

Scott County collector Tom Marshall today submitted the county's April financial report of collections amounting to $13,792.10. Marshall said that all 1970 delinquent taxes collected now, if paid in May, bear a two per cent penalty and five per cent interest.

April allotments:

State, $84.55; county, $1,240.17; health, $278.70; library, $147.21; johnson grass, $60.99; county drainage, $106.58; and county special roads, $688.05.

School districts receiving funds:

R-1, Illmot-Scott City, $2,024.17; R-2, Chaffee, $451.76; R-3, Oran, $229.96; R-4, Benton, $1,635.20; R-5, Morley, $496.49; R-6, Sikeston, $6,294.52; and C-7, Kelso, $53.75.

Benton Man Hurt in Crash

Paul Chiles, 53, of Benton, sustained a broken wrist and cuts in a traffic accident Thursday morning four miles north of Sikeston on highway H.

At 11:30 a.m., a 1962 Chevrolet pickup truck traveling south, driven by Everett Rister, 55, of Sikeston, and a 1971 farm tractor going north, driven by Chiles, sideswiped and the tractor turned over throwing Chiles off, the highway patrol said.

Chiles was taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital.

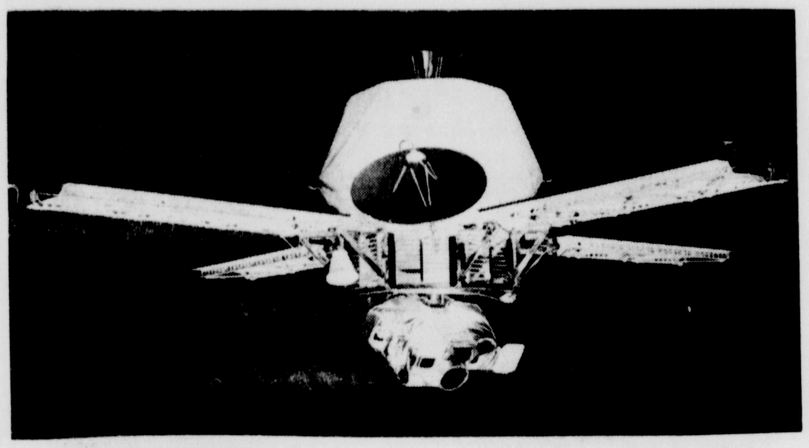
MARS is the destination of Mariners 8 and 9, the first American probes of the red plant since the historic photo-mapping missions in 1969. Scheduled to reach Mars in November, almost six months after launch, the spacecraft will go into orbit, the first (Mission A) 750 to 10,500 miles above the surface the second (Mission B) 500 to 17,500 miles. The Mariners weigh 2,200 pounds and have four solar panels with a total span of 22 feet 7½ inches. Attachment at bottom, below, contains cameras set to scan 70 per cent of the Martian surface on Mission A and to film the same features repeatedly, on Mission B, to detect seasonal changes.



A REAL EXECUTIVE hangup is what Australian Defense Minister John Grey Gorton finds himself in during a visit to Honington Royal Air Force base in England. Gorton ran through a preflight drill before taking a ride in a strike aircraft.

Sedalia Man Waits 53 Years to Get Purple Heart

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) -- He had to wait nearly 53 years, but Wilfred Lee of Sedalia received his Purple Heart Thursday.

Lee, 76, was wounded Sept. 12, 1918, in World War I at St. Mihiel. An Army snafu prevented him from getting the medal.

Retired Brig. Gen. Lewis M. Means of Fayette, Mo., learned of the mistake and told Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who hounded the Pentagon until the error was rectified.

High Percentage of Young Americans Read Daily Paper

NEW YORK (AP) -- A survey shows that 73 per cent of Americans aged 14 to 25 read at least one newspaper each day, reports the Bureau of Advertising.

The bureau said Wednesday it found in a poll of 1,647 young readers that one in five youths began reading a daily newspaper when they were 7 years old or less.

About 62 per cent of those surveyed said they read the entire newspaper, spending an average 36 minutes each day with the paper.

VA Plans St. Louis Center for Drug Treatment

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)--The Veterans Administration is planning expansion of its drug treatment center in Topeka and a new facility at St. Louis for treatment of returning Vietnam veterans.

The step was announced in Kansas City Tuesday by Donald E. Johnson, VA administrator from Washington.

Speaking on the subject of drugs in Vietnam, Johnson said "the availability is great, the potency is high and the price is cheap."

Johnson said the defense department is placing a high priority on cutting off GI drug supplies in Vietnam.

Kennett Boy Gun Victim

KENNETT--William Rex Loggins, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill West, was accidentally shot and killed at 10:15 a.m. Saturday while visiting at a friend's home.

Kennett City Police reported Loggins and several other youths had spent the night at the home of Kyle Ballenger, 12. Police said they were sitting in the living room when the Ballenger youth brought in a 16-gauge shotgun from the bedroom and pumped it once, not knowing that the gun had a shell in it. He then pointed it at the Loggins youth and pulled the trigger.

He died two hours later at the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

Whittling Judge Dies of Work

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

With the backlog of court cases building up, Judge Hoople undertook a six-month crash program to whittle away the number of cases on his calendar. He worked twice as long each day, passed up a two-week vacation and ran a tight courtroom.

Unfortunately, the court calendar proved more resistant than the good judge. He suffered a heart attack and died. In due course, his widow claimed a Workmen's Compensation award for his death.

"Sorry," was the respectful response, "but Workmen's Compensation is only paid when someone is injured on the job. Your husband wasn't injured on the job. He simply died because of a bad ticker."

"That's true," answered the widow, "but it was due to the anxieties and tensions created by the crash program. It was actually his job that killed him. Exasperations and overwork. Therefore, I'm entitled to the award."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOUR WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant an award for the death of the overworked judge?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that undue anxiety, strain and mental stress from work are frequently more devastating than mere physical injury; that it is not incredible to believe that Judge Hoople's heart failure was caused by the crash program.

(Based upon a 1969 New York Supreme Court, App. Div., Decision).

TAPPAN
FIRST IN ELECTRONIC COOKING
Enjoy all the many benefits of electronic cooking now . . . without remodeling your kitchen. New Tappan electronic oven fits on your kitchen countertop, plugs into standard outlets, can be moved to dining room, patio or den. Best of all, it's from Tappan -- the people who introduced electronic cooking for the home back in 1954.
Electronic energy is a form of high frequency radio energy. When the energy comes into contact with food, instant heating takes place.
The electronic oven cooks with time, so there are no temperatures to remember. You just set the timer dial, then push the "start" button.
Because the metal surfaces in the oven reflect energy, they don't get hot. Cleaning is easier because foods don't burn in the oven.
Throw away your pots and pans. In the new electronic oven, you cook in glass, paper or ceramic utensils . . . the same ones you serve in.
Let us demonstrate this miraculous new oven for you . . . then carry one home

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 17, the 137th day of 1971. There are 228 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

On this date:

In 1666, Congregationalists from Connecticut founded Newark, N.J.

In 1792, the New York Stock Exchange was founded.

In 1803, the first patent for a reaper was granted to Richard French and John Hawkins of New Jersey.

In 1875, the first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky.

In 1940, in World War II, the Nazis occupied Brussels, Belgium's capital.

In 1957, Egypt barred Israeli ships from the Suez Canal.

Ten years ago: South Korea's Premier John M. Chang resigned after a revolt by the armed forces.

Five years ago: Rumania was reported pressing the Soviets for veto power over Russian nuclear weapons based on Rumanian soil.

One year ago: The U.S. commander in Cambodia reported part of the field headquarters of the Communist command had been captured.

Time Factor Faces Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Time begins to pinch Missouri's Legislature this week.

Leaders of both houses have announced they will spend much of the week debating their own bills, trying to get them passed and sent across the rotunda to the other branch.

No cutoff dates have been set. But from a practical standpoint, any House bill still on the House calendar or any Senate bill still on the Senate calendar by the end of this week would have only a remote chance of passage unless it got special handling.

Under new annual session ground rules, work on bills must end June 15, less than a month away.

When it came back to work today, the House faced debate on a controversial bill to let public employes organize and bargain collectively on wages and hours.

Labor unions want that right spelled out in the law because their collective bargaining position is under a legal cloudy now and the right of public employes to strike has been challenged repeatedly.

Also on the House docket as special orders of business for today are bills to:

Permit interstate compacts on pest control

Provide subdistricts in the election of junior college trustees.

Prevent national banks from taking tax credit on their tangible personal property.

Designate Jan. 15 as "Martin Luther King Day"although not a state holiday.

The Senate, easily sidetracked in legalistic controversy, does not follow the practice of setting bills as special order of business but has many on its calendar which could produce lengthy arguments.

One is a truck length bill designed to help double deck automobile carriers which shuttle across the state on interstate highways.

Another would raise from $50 to $100 the breaking point where theft of property becomes a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

Also pending, 17 bills down the line, is a bill designed to solve a problem at the State Training School for Boys at Boonville by setting up a system for transferring dangerous or incorrigible inmates to adult penal institutions.

Meanwhile solution of such major problems as the budget and congressional redistricting are nowhere in sight.

Bitterness between the two houses over appropriations has become a legislative trademark and the 1971 session is no exception.

The money squabbles are supposed to be ended by June 8 but the stage was set for a last minute crisis when Rep. E.J. Cantrell, D-Overland, House Appropriations chairman, said he wasn't worried about the June 8 deadline.

Fletcher Top Gideon Scholar

GIDEON — David Carter Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher, is the valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class of Gideon high school and Patricia Kay Lunbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Lunbeck is the salutatorian.

Carter has received awards in English I, II, and III, general biology and world history and honorable mention in geometry, French I and II and Algebra I and II.

Carter was chosen as a member of Who's Who of American High Schools. He was a member of the football team three years and won an award in football in 1970.

He is a member of the National Honor Society and served on the student council two years. He plans to attend college after graduation.

Miss Lunbeck has received awards in basic business and A team debate, received honorable mentions in world history, English II and III and American history.

She has been a member of the marching and concert bands and was drum majorette her senior year. She served six years as junior high and senior high cheerleader. She was chosen by the students as president of the student body her senior year and is a member of the National Honor Society.

She was selected "Most Studious" and Miss G.H.S. Miss Lumsden was also chosen for Who's Who of American High Schools and Outstanding Teenager of America.

She plans to attend college at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau, where she has received a regent scholarship. She plans to major in pre-pharmacy.

Balance of Payments Hits Record Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit in the U. S. balance of payments rose to a record level in the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said the deficit on the official reserve transactions basis reached a seaonally adjusted $5.5 billion in the first quarter.

The official reserve transaction basis represented all tranactions with foreign governments and foreign central banks. The deficit on the basis deteriorated by $2.2 billion from the last three months of 1970, the department said.

Secretay of the Treasury John B. Connolly gave the figures to the Senate Finance Committee at a trade hearing and said, "Clearly, that level of deficit is not sustainable."

A 1962 Chevrolet traveling east, driven by Ruby Taylor, 33, of Matthews, was struck by a northbound 1971 Buick, driven by Theophil Oberndorfer, 56, of Uniontown, the highway patrol said, when Oberndorfer pulled from a stop sign into the path of the Taylor car.

Mrs. Taylor sustained face cuts and her daughter, Donna, sustained an injured right knee. Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston.

Outsiders Judge City By Ads

Earl Jewell, advertising manager for the Daily Standard, spoke to the Optimist club this morning at the Holiday Inn, on the value of advertising. He said "Advertising is the backbone of any community. Citizens judge your community on advertising. If your local home town newspaper is full of advertising, then the outsider looks upon your community as a thriving and growing community."

He was introduced by Charles Brady, program chairman.

"You may not realize it," Jewel said, "but everything that you do from the time you get up, until you retire, the product you use is an advertised one. The man who doesn't advertise may know his business, but nobody else does."

"The word itself is like a good lube job, that keeps the wheels of business moving. Advertising creates a demand, and demand creates more sales, more sales creates more production, and more production creates more jobs.

Jewel concluded that a survey published nationally disclosed that 80 per cent of the men and 95 per cent of the women read advertising.

Jewel has spent 42 years in advertising.

Club President Ted Elliott announced that the club representative, Thomas Lemmons, was among the six finalists, in the state optimist speech contest.

COUNTING ON LINDY

NEW YORK (AP) Lindy McDaniel, 35-year-old relief pitcher who broke in with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1955, is again expected to do much relief pitching for the New York Yankees this season.

McDaniel posted a 9-5 record last season with 29 saves. His earned run record was 2.01, lowest of his career.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Navy Blows Billion Dollars On Chopper Decks That Won't Work; 740 Drones Crash Into Sea Or Mothballed; One In Smithsonian; And Navy Still Builds Faulty Contraptions In New Destrovers

Nixon Asks Rail Strike Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by signalmen today paralyzed the nation's railroad system.

President Nixon quickly appealed to Congress to extend the contract of the striking unions until July 1 to provide time for more negotiations toward a voluntary settlement.

Both Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and House Speaker Carl Albert, DOkla., expressed doubt Congress could act today to end the walkout.

C. J. Chamberlain, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said in advance he would obey any act of Congress.

The union is asking for a 54 per cent increase over three years in wages averaging $3.78 hourly for skilled signalmen. The railroads offered a 42 per cent increase in 42 months.

The signalmen install and maintain electrical railroad signals. Chamberlain said the union's demand for extra pay is an "equity adjustment" aimed at raising their wages closer to the wages paid electricians outside the railroad industry.

Secretary of Labor James Hodgson said the union was demanding more money than most other rail unions already had settled for. He added:

"It is incredible that the half million employes of the rail industry should find themselves out of work and that millions of Americans should be subjected to service disruptions by this action taken by a relatively few employes."

Other large unions respected the picket lines of the 13,000member signlamen's union which represents about two per cent of all rail workers.

As the President's proposal went to Congress there was a question how soon it could be acted upon. Only routine business had been scheduled for today and many members were not present.

In a message to the Congress, made public at the Florida White House in Key Biscayne, Nixon said:

"A nationwide stoppage of rail srvice would cause great hardship to all Americans and strike a serious blow at the nation's economy. It is essential that our railroads continue to operate."

The President called on the Senate and House to promptly pass a joint resolution that, technically, would have the effect of extending until July 1 the present contract between the rail industry and the signalmen.

Nixon said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson would work during that period toward promoting a voluntary settlement. In the absence of a negotiated agreement, he called on Hodgson "to report to me and the Congress by June 21."

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler noted this was the third time Nixon has gone to Congress for hurry-up legislation to avert or halt a coast-to-coast rail shutdown.

"The Congress has been responsive on this in the past," said Zegler, adding that if the Senate and House act today, "very likely the railroads would be operating normally tomorrow."

Pending any congressional action to halt the rail strike, Nixon also signed an executive order listing priorities "as guidance and instructions to federal agencies, to shippers and to carriers" on what goods should be shipped first. These included foods, drugs and medical supplies, fuels needed for electric power production and some categories of mail.

Congress had made no special plans to handle the strike before it recessed for the weekend, and it was an open question how soon any legislation could be passed. It took a midnight session to put a stop to a one-day nationwide walkout by four other unions last December.

Today's strike by the AFLCIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen is the fourth nationwide rail walkout in 50 years. Although the 13,000 signalmen represent only two per cent of all rail workers, other large unions appeared to be honoring their picket lines as they spread across the country, starting at 6 a.m. local time in each time zone.

By 9 a.m. EDT a spokesman for the Federal Railroad Administration reported "a pretty well shutdown situation" as far west as Chicago, and predicted the rail industry would be at a virtual halt all across America by noon.

First to feel the strike were morning rail commuters in New York, Chicago and other larg cities. New York's stateowned Long Island Rail Road was still running because it bargains locally, but all other commuter and intercity passenger trains were affected, along with freight service. No exemptions were made for military cargo or perishable goods.

In Key Biscayne, Fla., where President Nixon was winding up a weekend sojourn, White House sources said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson was preparing legislation to send to Congress, probably by the end of the day.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Hodgson telephoned to say that the administration would submit emergency legislation sometime this morning.

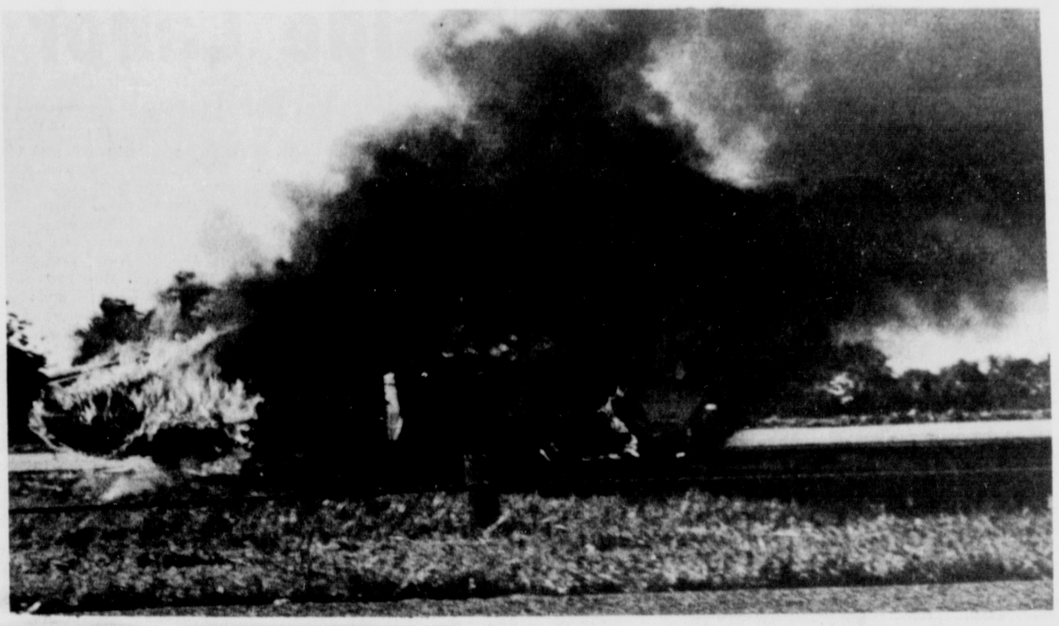
There were spotty reports of some trains operating despite the strike. Chicago's South Shore and South Bend Rail Road was running because its signalmen belong to a different union. Missouri Pacific supervisory personnel manned skeleton crews in Little Rock, Ark., to continue operations there.

Supervisory personnel were being used to move livestock and perishable items, some railroads reported. The strike came despite government efforts to mediate a settlement between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference.

Hodgson, who announced at 12:30 a.m. that talks had collapsed and the union would go through with its strike threat, said the department would continue efforts to mediate. No further bargaining sessions were scheduled, however.

The government began emergency efforts to relieve strike effects. The Interstate Commerce Commission issued a temporary order allowing truck and bus lines to apply for expanded service. "There are numerous commodities that must be moved for the essential needs of the public and national defense," said ICC Chairman George M. Stafford.

Transportation Secretary John Volpe cancelled a trip to New York. A department spokesman said Volpe is involved in consideration of a possible executive order that would declare a national transportation emergency and set up government machinery to set priorities for different shipments and embargo movement of non-essential items. The spokesman said such an order wouldn't involve any government takeover of train service, however.



A BLAZING CAR was destroyed after it caught fire while traveling west on interstate 57, five miles west of Charleston near Bertrand at 5 p.m. Saturday. Occupants of the car escaped without injury. The driver of the car could not be identified by the highway patrol or Mississippi county sheriff's authorities.

Postal Service Takes Stand To Justify Permanent Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service went to the stand today in an attempt to justify and make permanent the postage increases it already has put into effect temporarily.

Postal Service accountants and lawyers were the scheduled leadoff witnesses as the independent Postal Rate Commission opened hearings expected to last into the summer.

The hearings mark an historic moment of sorts in the nearly two centuries of the U.S. mails: For the first time since 1792, the price of stamps and other postage will be set not by Congress but outside the political arena.

The first mail-cost increases since Congress boosted the cost of first class postage to six cents in 1967 went into effect at midnight Saturday, despite attempts to stop them in U.S. District Court, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

Surface and airmail stamps now cost eight cents and 11 cents, respectively, and postcards six cents. Airmail cards went up to nine cents.

Charges for second and third class postage were increased by 20 to 30 per cent and special delivery rates were increased by one third.

Parcel post was raised an average of 15 per cent last November, and is not involved in the current situation.

Under last year's postal reform legislation, which created the corporate-like Postal Service and the independent, fivemember Postal Rate Commission, the cost of running the mails must be spread equally and equitably among its users.

According to the law, the rate commission must recommend rates to the Postal Service's board of governors. The governors on Feb. 1 sent the rate commission a proposed, $1.45 billion-a-year rate package, hoping that the commission would like it and recommend it right back. However, the law also requires the commission take testimony and evidence from the mail users who foot the bill and from a special section of the commission that represents the general public.

Some 57 organizations representing big mailers have signed up to be heard, including the Magazine Publishers Association, the American Newspapers Publishers Association and the Direct Mail Advertisers Association.

Rail Strike Felt Locally

Mail Affected, Freight Trains Halt

A nationwide railway strike this morning halted rail service to Sikeston on both the Missouri Pacific and the Frisco roads.

Representatives from both railroads said freight service was ended this morning following the announced strike by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen. The picket lines of the relatively small union are being honored by the more than 500,000 railway workers in the nation.

One Missouri Pacific train from Poplar Bluff to Sikeston made its scheduled run this morning. Officials of the railroad said the train left the terminal prior to the strike and completed its run to Sikeston.

The Missouri Pacific will not run tomorrow unless the strike is ended.

Picket lines have been established at Hayti and Chaffee on the Frisco.

A northbound Frisco train from Memphis to St. Louis was "tied up" at Chaffee this morning by picket lines at the rail terminal. Frisco official said the train would not complete its run to St. Louis today.

Frisco trains will not run tomorrow if an agreement has not been reached.

Postmaster Don Pasaka said this morning that the post office is placing an embargo on mailing or acceptance of second, third and fourth class mail addressed for delivery beyond the third parcel post zone.

The third parcel post zone includes an area outside a 400-mile radius of Sikeston.

Special Funds Used to Gather Evidence in Semo Drug Probe

Scott County Prosecutor Tom Gilmore disclosed this morning that Scott county, like Cape Girardeau county, used money from a special fund for the purchase of drugs during the two months prior to Wednesday night's three - county narcotic raids.

Gilmore said the funds, about $300, were used by two highway patrol undercover narcotics agents. The funds were taken from the major case expenses of the prosecutor's office.

More than $300 was alotted by the Cape Girardeau county court for the purchase of illegal drugs by undercover agents.

Cape Girardeau county sheriff's officers said this morning that Mark Harris, the sole suspect still unapprehended by police, has made arrangement through his attorney to surrender to police this afternoon in Jackson. Harris is charged with possession of narcotics.

Ronnie Lee Wyatt and James William McClure, both of Cape Girardeau, remain in custody in the Cape Girardeau county jail in Jackson.

Wyatt is charged with two counts of selling marijuana and selling LSD and stimulant drugs and is held under $5000 bond. McClure is held under $5,000 bond on two counts of possession of narcotics and selling LSD.

Keith Umfleet and Teresa Gale Graviett, both of Scott City, remain in the county jail in Benton.

Umfleet is charged with possession of narcotic drugs and the woman with sale of narcotics.

Cape Girardeau authorities report that a bomb, resembling a Molotov cocktail, was found in the apartment at 13 South Henderson in Cape Girardeau, one of four houses raided there. Authorities said it is possible that someone may be charged with having the bomb in his possession but added "It depends on labratory findings."

A state patrol laboratory in Jefferson City is examining material seized in the raids.

Region Planners May Merge

MALDEN — Frank Iuen, of Jefferson City, Missouri liaison officer of the Ozark Regional Planning Commission, will discuss the Ozark Planning Commission's program and the possibility of the six Bootheel counties being included in its boundaries at a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The Ozark Regional Planning Commission is a multi-state operation which includes Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. It matches federal monies to assist economic depressed areas.

Philip Shelton, executive director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, said if the six Bootheel counties become a part of the Ozark Regional Planning Commission, area towns would need to provide 20 per cent matching funds, the Ozark commission would provide 30 per cent of federal funds and the Bootheel commission would provide 50 per cent of federal funds.

Under the present set-up, the Bootheel commission provides 50 per cent and area towns provide 50 per cent.

The rate of assessment for towns and counties will also be set for the coming year beginning July 1 at Thursday's meeting.

Two Held In Michigan Killing

HAYTI — William Cole, 47, and Carlos Fain, 31, both of Benton Harbor, Mich., were apprehended by Pemiscot county Deputy Sheriff Gene James and three highway patrolemen in Hayti Sunday night on a Michigan warrant for investigation of murder.

The pair are suspected of killing a man and robbing him of $800 May 2 in a combination grocery store and tavern in South Haven, Mich., Pemiscot county authorities said today.

Authorities said the victim's name was not mentioned in the warrant but said he was the owner of the store and that he had been stabbed 11 times with a large knife between 2:10 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

Sheriff's authorities said the pair were apparently in the Hayti area because Cole was born at Braggadoccio and Fain was born at Trumann, Ark.

The pair are in Pemiscot county jail at Caruthersville and have waived extradiction to Michigan.

PORNOGRAPHY AND THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

When President Johnson wanted to set up a commission to study pornography a few years ago, the American Civil Liberties Union was opposed to it. The President set it up anyway, but the powerful ACLU took the Commission over. It used Commission funds to hire an executive of the ACLU as its chief counsel. Charles Keating, the only member on the Commission appointed by President Nixon, said putting an ACLU lawyer in charge was like "putting a burglar in charge of the jewels," since the ACLU had such a long record of opposing laws that curbed obscenity.

The results of the Commission were predictable: it called for the repeal of most of our existing laws against obscenity, arguing that pornography did not cause criminal behavior.

To sit back complacently and reason that smutty literature has its place is to condone national suicide. As columnist James Kilpatrick pointed out: "The heart and soul of this racket is not the grown-up sucker. It is the curious child ..."

Psychiatrists and police officials point to the results: rebellion against authority; venereal disease; illegitimate children; the shattered lives of unwed parents; an expanding population of sick perverts; a philosophy of self-indulgence that condones adultery, destroys the home, and threatens our whole society.

For the damaging results of salacious literature you need only look to the judges manning the juvenile courts of our nation. They pointed out at their national conference how pornography has had such a profound effect on our society that it is changing that very nature of juvenile delinquency. Said the chief psychiatrist of the County Court in Philadelphia: "The greatest single cause of sexual immorality in adolescents is pornography." Inspector Herbert Case of the Detroit Police Department said he has never yet seen a sex murder case where obscene literature was not involved. So testify the other experts, right on down the line. Let's find out how bad the smut is in our area and see what we can do about cleaning it up.

MEANING OF MASS PRODUCTION

One of the best examples of the meaning of mass production was published by an insurance information service which says, "A low priced auto costs $3,500 sitting brand new on the dealer's lot, but if you went out and bought each part separately, the total cost of that auto would be $7,500. To get the car assembled would cost at least another $7,500 for mechanics' labor charges ... so when you are talking about repairing an auto, a brand new car costs not $3,500 but $15,000."

Obviously, the difference between $3,500 and $15,000 is the saving obtained through mass production. Of course, mass production cannot be achieved for the benefit of 200 million people except through the facilities of so-called big business. Yet, ironically, it is big business that has drawn the heaviest criticism of the dissidents -- everyone of which, incidentally, is well equipped with the products of mass production.

There is very little difference in people, says Clement Stone, but that little difference makes a big difference. The little difference is attitude. The big difference is whether it is positive or negative.

Nowhere is this principle better illustrated than in the story of the young bride from the East who, during the last war, followed her husband to any Army camp on the edge of the desert in California. Living conditions were primitive at best, and he had advised against it, but she wanted to be with him.

The only housing they could find was a rundown shack near an Indian village. The heat was unbearable in the daytime — 115 degrees in the shade. The wind blew constantly, spreading dust and sand all over everything. The days were long and boring. Her only neighbors were the Indians, non of whom spoke English.

When her husband was ordered farther into the desert for two weeks of maneuvers, loneliness and the wretched living conditions got the best of her. She wrote to her mother that she was coming home — she just couldn't take any more. In a short time she received a reply which included these two lines:

Two men looked out from prison bars,
One saw mud, the other saw the stars.

She read the lines over and over and began to feel ashamed of herself. And she didn't really want to leave her husband. All right, she'd look for the stars.

In the following days she set out to make friends with the Indians. She asked them to teach her weaving and pottery. At first they were distant, but as soon as they sensed her interest was genuine they returned her freindship. She became fascinated with their culture, history — everything about them.

She began to study the desert as well, and soon it, too, changed from a desolate, forbidden place to a marvelous thing of beauty. She had her mother send her books. she studied the forms of the cacti, the yuccas and the Joshua trees. She collected sea shells that had been left there millions of years ago when he sands had been an ocean floor. Later, she became such an expert on the area that she wrote a book about it.

What had changed? Not the desert; not the Indians. Simply by changing her own attitude she had transformed a miserable experience into a highly rewarding one.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the best companion of all.

Unlike a cat, it does not have to be fed and pampered. Unlike a dog, it does not bark or have to be taken for a walk at the end of a leash.

Unlike another human being, it does not go away from you or lie down and die just when you need it most.

No, memory is the finest possible companion. It rarely intrudes, asks nothing for itself, and willingly extends its solace at any hour and silently holds out a helpful arm to tide one through any trouble.

You've got a good mixture of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when—

Half the people in America still kept chickens in the backyard, and one of the occupational problems of a burglar was how to prowl without waking up roosters.

When someone dropped an envelope instead of clinking cash into the church collection basket, everyone else in the pew spent the next 15 minutes wondering whether the envelope contained a $5 bill or a dime.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who, after eating a banana, would carefully place the skin, slippery side down, just off a curbstone in hope that a passing grownup would step on it.

Sooner or later every dog got fleas, sooner or later most kids came home from school with lice in their hair. Then their squirming heads had to be shaved and anointed with kerosene.

A fellow could give his best girl a box of chocolates and get a grateful kiss from her instead of a lot of whining about how he had wrecked her diet.

Unless an unusually interesting dogfight got started outside in the street, most people in America began yawning about 9:30 p.m.

In many small towns the local furniture dealer also sold coffins, discreetly kept in a separate small room at the back of the store.

A pedestrian had to look both ways before crossing any street—a habit the smart ones still keep.

Even some doctors felt that if you ate fish and drank milk at the same meal you ran a grave risk of being poisoned.

Folks going out for an evening hated to lock their doors for fear a neighbor would feel hurt if he ran over to borrow something and found himself unable to get in.

Practically everybody was optimistic about the future and felt sure the world was bound to get better.

Those were the days—remember?

Debt

On a gross debt basis, state debt per person was highest in Tennessee in 1967, $728, followed closely by Delaware at $704. Idaho had the lowest per capita state gross debt figure, $23. At the end of fiscal 1967, there was $31 billion of state gross long-term debt. The largest single component, $6.7 billion, was for toll highways. Indebtedness for state institutions of higher education totaled $5.0 billion; for local schools $2.7.

An Unworkable Remedy

Some may wonder why inflation has not been "controlled" by the imposition of wage and price controls. The answer is that such control means dictatorship of a kind that will work in a Democracy only when supported as an act of patriotism by the people.

A press release tells how wage and price controls worked in the United States during World War II. All businesses were licensed; if a licence was withdrawn for violation of the law, the businessmen was out of work and subject to a $5,000 fine and two years imprisonment. Ceiling prices on 160 important consumer items were required to be posted clearly on or near the merchandise. Rents were frozen at levels prevailing in March, 1942. There were no major wage increases during the war. The Office of Price Administration required most business and industry to supply quarterly more detailed information than the Internal Revenue Service had ever requested in its annual tax returns, Manfucturers were forbidden to change the quality, size, weight, lines of construction techniques of their products without prior approval. Most drivers were restricted to 5 gallons of gasoline per week.

Anyone who recalls the crippling red tape that accompanied the wage and price controls of World War II does not need to be told that they are unworkable except in a war emergency when patriotism is the leavening factor that makes them acceptable. There is no evidence of this kind of patriotism in the guns and butter economy of the present.

POLLUTION AT PEARLY GATES?

The United States Aerospace Defense Command (ADC) has reported that 1,877 manmade objects now occupy the space around us. Venus 7, a Soviet satellite designed to gather data on the planet Venus, is the latest.

Among this 1,877 are 400 earth - orbiting objects, 1,412 pieces of earth -orbiting debris, 33 probes into deeper space and 32 pieces of space - probe debris

Of these, 393 have been launched by Russia, 1,436 by the United States and the remainder by other nations and the European Space Research Organization. ADC's Space Defense Center beneath a mountain in Colorado keeps busy monitoring all this extraterrestial activity.

The Space Age was launched in 1957, so in just 13 years man has managed to clutter up the universe with an average of 12 objects per month.

One wonders: Will even heaven have a pollution problem?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--The Navy is stuck with defective flight decks and other faulty helicopter facilities on more than 150 of its ships. The 740 drone helicopters built for the ships have either crashed, been crated and stored or otherwise retired from their anti-submarine work.

In the process, the Navy has squandered almost $1 billion in public funds. The admirals have hidden the magnitude of this loss from Congress and the nation. Even more outrageous, the Navy is still building the faulty gear into its newest, proudest destroyers.

The drone choppers themselves were phased out in 1966. They were supposed to clatter up from the ship platforms, zero in on subs and dispatch them with torpedo bombs. Instead, the drones plummted into the sea like rotten apples in a windstorm, or disappeared into the blue, never to be seen again.

The unmanned craft, called DASH for Drone Anti-Submarine Helicopter, even had bad luck on the ground. Three were burned in truck accidents. For reasons only the Navy knows, one of these Edsels of the air was consigned to the Smithsonian museum.

We learned of the billion-dollar boondoggle from a classified Navy report prepared by trouble shooter Rear Adm. John Bulkeley. The Navy had good reason to hastily classify this 168-page document.

In it, Bulkeley sizzled on discovering an "uncertified helo platform" on the USS Knox, one of a spanking new group of destroyers. He also turned up a "useless...hangar and JP-5 fueling system.

"DASH...platform can only be used as a Vert Rep pick up," he growled, meaning that choppers can hover to pick up or drop supplies, but cannot safely land on the platforms. The Admiral wrote that the Navy, not the contractors, were to blame. "Government Responsible" was his terse judgment of the goof.

We checked other Navy ships to find out whether the long-defunct DASH system had been built into them. We found more than 150 ships with bum platforms, faulty hangars, and useless control rooms.

The ships equipped to handle worthless drones, according to another internal Navy document, reads like a "Who's Who in the U.S. Fleet."

Among these are the destroyer USS J.P. Kennedy, the vaunted nuclear destroyer USS Truxton and even destroyer tenders like the USS Dixie. Some had been modernized with DASH platforms at huge expense long after the program was officially declared a flop.

Shamefaced Navy experts explained privately to my associate, Les Whitten, that barnacle-encrusted admirals had insisted on building the ships' platforms without ever being sure that the drones would work. When the unmanned choppers flopped into the sea, the admirals kept building more platforms in the hope that a new helicopter could be developed to use them. But the new helicopter program also fizzled.

Now, the Navy is praying that still another light-weight helicopter, or a heavier chopper will work. In either case, the old DASH facilities would have to be modified at extra cost to the taxpayer.

Officially, the Navy told us that the cost of the debacle was way below $1 billion. But it acknowledged that 386 of the drones had been lost, mostly through crashes. The rest have been mothballed at even more expense to the U.S. Treasury, or pressed into makeshift limited duties.

"Maybe," said one Navy wag gloomily, "we can put wheels on them and use them for go-carts."

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

Inside Dope--Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, got headlines when his narcotics subcommittee said drugs don't have a significant effect on military missions in Vietnam. Now, Jon Steinberg, who spent weeks in Vietnam for another Senate subcommittee, has disputed the Hughes findings in a letter to Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. Steinberg wrote that the Hughes staffers were only in Vietnam a week, were "riddled" by interparty dissension and failed to discover that "drug use by troops in the field is a definite cause of battlefield deaths." One forward aid station doctor told Steinberg of removing marijuana from dead and injured combat troops. The "grass" filled several sandbags a week. Hughes staffers denied the charges. Mafia in Market--The first big Senate hearings on Mafia influences in the stock market will begin shortly. They will be held before Senator John McClellan's Permanent Investigating Subcommittee. This is the same committee that proved the Mafia existed with its Valachi hearings eight years ago.

McClellan has found that the Mafia has been instrumental in siphoning off from Wall Street more than $100 million a year in stolen securities. His disclosures of names and firms will stun investors by showing how deeply organized crime has penetrated the brokerage business.

Bombings Continue--The new Federal Explosives Control Law, which restricts sales of explosives, hasn't stopped terrorists from rigging bombs. All the ingredients they need are still available. Toothbrush handles, for instance, contain useful mitrocellulose, and common gasoline and ammomium nitrate fertilizer can cause explosions. The terrorists usually hid their bombs in storage areas and restrooms. Two-way radios, used by bomb squads to search for bombs, have actually caused them to explode on occasion. The radio beam has caused premature detonation.

H.L. Hunt Says

PING PONG GAME

The ping pong diplomacy of Richard Nixon, it is to be hoped, has deeper motives than appear on the surface. A former bare=knuckled fighter and antagonist of everything communist when he was in the Senate, Nixon has used a game of ping pong to crack the tough outer surface of Red China and has followed through with a relaxation of trade barriers. Surely, Nixon, the president and skilled politician, knows that the government of Red China is still as full of venom as ever and that their leaders have not changed their attitude toward us.

But Nixon, as commander-in-chief, has a tough job of extricating our armed forces from Indo-China and a yet even tougher job in securing the safe release of our prisoners of war now languishing in North Vietnamese prison camps. He was elected to office on the promise of getting our men "honorably" out of Indo-China. He still insists that that includes the prisoners.

Perhaps Red China is his trump card. He hasn't said so but it provides interesting speculation that the flashing of a smile instead of a smirk toward Peking might lead to bigger things.

It will be a master stroke if he can pull it off, provided he does not compromise in any way our accommodations with Nationalist China on Formosa and make further concessions to the communist world. If the POW issue is at stake in his dealings with the Chinese mainlanders, it must be handled delicately. And any fuel we might throw on the fire of mistrust existing between the communists of China and Russia will be a bonus.

While freedom lovers everywhere will--and should--remain skeptical of any dealings with the enemy, we can still hope for a coup in the Nixon strategy as long as our national honor is not disturbed. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

SCORCHING THE MAYOR: Linday's Presidential Campaign Network Jolted By Angry Blasts From Former Militant Labor Backers
By Victor Riesel

New York: It will come as a sad note to the 216 "Linday for President" clubs that the not-so-gay, not-so-swinging, not-so-flush mayor received a Dear John letter the other day.

It was from an old friend, a youngish labor leader, and it was hand-delivered over at "the Hall" since it was intended to bury him politically -- not praise him.

Ominously the letter began, "Dear Mr. Mayer." Grimly for John V. Lindsay, it was signed, "Sincerely" by the leader of this huge rock pile's big interracial municipal employes union, the 125,000-member District Council 37, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFLC-CIO).

The crisp and angry letter, kissing John Lindsay goodbye, was dispatched by the council's Executive Director Victor Gotbaum, who works in tandem with the 500,000-member national union's militant president, Jerry Wurf -- and therefore has considerable national political significance.

In many cities, especially the inner cities, this pile-driving union is the core of the liberal, black-Puerto Rican-Chicano-youth coalitions.

In the last New York mayoralty race in 1969 when the Republican Party rejected John Lindsay and he was forced to fight for political existence, Victor Gotbaum rushed in the money, the troops, the hardware needed to re-elect Linday on the frail Liberal Party ticket. Otherwise John V. Lindsay would have gone the way of Jimmy Roosevelt who once bid for mayor of Los Angeles.

Any permanent rift between Gotbaum's union and Mayor Linday, to whom the anti-Nixon California Rep. Paul McCloskey and the rootless former N. Y. Sen. Charles Goodell are looking as their man of strength, would dissolve much of John Lindsay's power base. Not only in New York, but deep within the inner cities.

The Dear John letter was rushed over to the Hall after Mayor Lindsay, setting the pattern for scores of other mayors, bucked the labor movement in the state legislature. The immediate issue was a bill which would have tightened the financial vise on pension funds and restricted the scope of collective bargaining between municipal unions and the "employer," by which Vic Gotbaum means "the boss," the blended image of the city and the mayor.

The angry labor leader split, as the street people say, in what appeared to be swift action. But it wasn't. The razor-edged letter came after a series of moves by Mayor Lindsay in the past six months which are signs of things to come in a thousand cities -- youth programs were curtailed; overtime, even for police, fire fighters and garbage collectors, was slashed in many fashions, which means lower pensions; a ferry was mothballed and park and cultural services were cut. So were street crossing school guards in Queens. Thousands of jobs were clipped off. The hiring freeze was turned from rhetoric into ice.

Privately the mayor told Gotbaum that there would be cuts in the uniformed services -- fewer cops, firemen and sanitation workers. Even the Health and Hospital Corp., the Board of Education, the Housing Authority, the City University of New York and the Board of Elections are about to be axed -- and the scalpeling will continue. The city has just outspent itself.

Thus, on Saturday, May 8, the municipal labor leader went over to "the mansion" and talked warmly and confidentially with John Lindsay. The mayor listened and appeared to promise Gotbaum what he sought -- support and easing of the pressure on the city's employes.

On May 9, the mayor issued a statement which backed the state bills being fought by Gotbaum and the other labor chiefs. On May 10, Gotbaum rushed his letter over to the man whom militant unionists everywhere had been seeing as the symbol of anti-urban blight. The man many of them had been talking of as the presidential image of our times. The man they had hoped would tackle Richard Nixon.

Young as he is, Gotbaum is an old infighter. He's polite only to elderly women and young children in a political fight. So his letter read like an Old English translation of today's underground journals.

"...I regret to state," wrote Gotbaum,"that this pattern of behavior is consistent with all of your actions in recent weeks, during the terrible crisis facing New York City. Your decisions have been made in isolation and your actions unilaterally taken -- despite the fact that groups and organizations representing millions of New Yorkers are vitally effected by these decisions and actions.

"Throughout the crisis period, yours has been government by phone call, by inner circle office meetings, and by finger pointing.

"As a former political supporter, I must say with great regret that your performance has been disappointing."

Then came an attack on the mayor's "executive leadership". All of which leaves John V. Lindsay with no labor base. Long ago he broke with the hard hats, meaning Peter Brennan who ran the mammoth mass rally virtually a year ago which put 100,000 construction workers into the streets around City Hall.

And Mayor Lindsay broke with Harry Van Arsdale, the influential Central Labor Council president who also is national treasurer of the powerful Electrical Workers Brotherhood. And the mayor can only get pins and needles from Lou Stulberg's International Ladies Garment Workers Union, biggest in the state.

Now Mr. Lindsay has lost many of the left-of-center unions -- and the right-on Victor Gotbaum.

Without a home base -- despite the availability of several million dollars from Eastern and Midwest liberal businessmen, John V. Lindsay has no real spring-board for a dive into national politics.

But what mayor, who must meet a payroll these days, has such a political springboard? And what mayor has a solvent city? It is as Jimmy Roosevelt once said ruefully: "It'd be best for John if he lost the election by some 10,000 votes. Then he'd be a hero and could join us in Congress again.

"You just don't make national hay collecting a city's garbage."

Mrs. Ronald Lee Grojean

Grojean-Ripple

HIAWATHA, Kans. — Patricia Anne Ripple and Ronald Lee Grojean were married at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Hiawatha, Kan., Saturday. The Rev. Norman Phillips and The Rev. Fr. Gilbert Walters of Atchison officiated.

Ann Landers

Scrooge's Wife Unhappy With Tight-Fisted Conduct

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word to "Marmaduke Crumbum," the guy who wanted to know how to go about changing his name legally because it was so different? He doesn't know how lucky he is to have a name that is out of the ordinary.

My name is not Joe Smith but its equally common. I hate it. Wherever I go I am one of many. In school it was always a mess. In the Army it was worse. I was forever getting somebody else's mail. Now, it's a problem with the bills. And since the computers handle everything, there's no way out.

My wife and I have agreed to give our children ridiculously far-out names so that no one will ever forget them. People may laugh, but they WILL remember. — Joe

Dear Joe: In behalf of Birdseed Willson, Tonsilitis Moore and Numbersgame Jones, I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: Is there a cure for a man who is so tight with money that he makes his wife's life hell? My husband earns a good salary — has for many years. But he is so afraid of being poor again that he counts pennies. He makes $1500 a month and our expenses run about $300. He must have a small fortune saved. When I ask him what we have in the bank he says, "Enough so we won't starve if something happens to my job."

As time goes on he becomes worse instead of better. We cannot enjoy life because he is so tight-fisted he won't spend money to see a movie and gets mad when I go. He never wants to eat out because it's cheaper to eat at home. When I ask him for money to make a donation to a worthy cause he says, "Who will take care of US when we are down and out?"

Can extreme poverty in childhood do this to a person? Please help me understand, and tell me what to do. — Scrooge's Wife

Dear Wife: Yes — extreme poverty in childhood CAN do that to a person, and this is probably what happened to your husband. Poor fellow has a clinker in his thinker.

Statistically you will survive Scrooge. This means he will have scrimped and saved all of his life, denying himself many simple pleasures because he was unable to part with a buck. Sad. My condolences to him and to others who suffer from the same illness.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in regard to the 11-year-old who had problems with his musical interests.

When I was nine I started to play the clarinet on a three-month trial basis. After the three months were up the teacher told my folks I had talent and they were advised to buy the clarinet. They dished out the $150, which was a lot of money to them. A week later I decided I wanted to play the flute. My parents said "no." I was pretty mad and said I wouldn't play any instrument if I couldn't play the flute. My dad said, "We bought you the clarinet and you'll play it or nothing. After you are good at it we'll consider a second instrument."

I sulked for two years then decided they weren't going to give in. I realized what a fool I'd been. All the kids in the band had been enjoying themselves, taking trips, etc. and I had missed out. So I decided to go back to the clarinet.

It's eight years later and I am really an expert. My dad kept his bargain and next week I start with the flute.

So tell those kids out there to stay with one instrument until they can play it well. They will be glad they did. — Future Music Teacher -

Dear Teach: You struck a sweet chord with me. Thanks for the harmony.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting - What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Revson Sets Pace

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Three gleaming memorials to the late Bruce McLaren, British auto racing genius, will start one, two and four in the 55th 500-mile race May 29 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The new Mark 16 McLarens dominated the first weekend of 10-mile time trials to be completed next Saturday and Sunday.

Peter Revson of New York won the pole position and about $15,000 in cash and accessory prizes, with a record four-lap average of 178.696 m.p.h.

Mark Donohue, who had done over 180 in practice with a twin to the Offenhauser-powered Revson car, had to settle for second—the inside of the threecar front row—at 177.087.

Bruce McLaren's London factory staff has carried on with built-in efficiency since he was killed a few days after last year's Indianapolis race, testing a new car for the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series. He had left Indianapolis disappointed by the breakdown of his car, driven also by Revson, less than halfway through the 500.

Bobby Unser, 1968 Indy winner, prevented a sweep by the Mark 16s in this year's time trials, by putting one of Dan Gurney's Eagle-Offenhausers on the outside of the front row at 175.816.

The first 26 qualifiers averaged 171.458 m.p.h., compared with the previous record of 167.076 for the same stage in last year's trials.

New Zealander Denis Hulme, teammate of Revson on the McLaren factory team, was fourth-fastest at 174.910 and will start in the second row just behind Revson. Donohue's Mark 16 is owned by road racer Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who helped develop it.

SEMO State Claims MIAA Track Title

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Southeast Missouri State boasted the best team balance and newcomer Lincoln University the fastest athlete during Saturday's Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association track meet.

Southeast scored 68½ points for the team title, followed by Northeast Missouri State with 59, Lincoln with 58 and Southwest Missouri State with 34.

Trailing were host MissouriRolla, 21; Northwest Missouri State, 17½, and Central Missouri State, 14.

Lincoln's James Amerison was voted the meet's standout with triumphs of 9.3 in the 100yard dash and 21.4 in the 220 and anchor for the winning 440yard relay team.

Russell Orms' 73-74-147 sparked Southwest Missouri to the MIAA golf title with a 770 team score. Missouri-Rolla was second at 804, Northeast Missouri third at 815 and Northwest fourth at 820.

Other team golf scores, Central 822, Southeast 837, Lincoln 840.

Northwest Missouri State won the tennis title with 45 points to runnerup Northeast's 43. Missouri-Rolla scored 8 points, Southeast 5, Southwest 4 and Central 1. Lincoln failed to score.

Liquori Claims Mile

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Marty Liquori beat Jim Ryun in their super-mile Sunday by challenging the world record holder in his specialty - an unbeatable finishing kick.

The one thing Liquori was that Ryun would outkick him in the stretch in the feature event of the Martin Luther King Games. He thought Ryun was strong and that if the race was close, nobody could beat the former Kansas star in the final 200 yards.

Well, Ryun was close in the stretch. He was a step behind Liquori with 200 yards to go. Surprise! Liquori never let him gain an inchnd won by a step in 3:54.6, the fastest mile ever recorded in the eastern United States.

Astros End Slump At Cards Expense

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Astros, who have been suffering a famine of runs lately, turned gluttons Sunday, swamping the St. Louis Cardinals 12-4.

Astro third baseman Doug Rader led the hitting parade, slamming a first inning homer with the bases loaded to shoot the Astos into a quick 4-0 lead.

Afterward, Rader, who had been having his hitting problems, credited the turnaround to Astro Manager Harry Walker.

"I might not be out of my slump yet except for Harry," Rader said. "He took me up to his room in New York during the last Astro road trip and he talked to me an hour about my problems."

That night in New York, Rader shattered an 0-for-28 slump and the next day he helped beat the Mets' Tom Seaver with a three-run homer.

In the past two games, Rader has banged out four hits. Sunday he knocked in six runs, adding a two run double in the third to his grand slam effort.

"If players hit, they get all the credit. If they don't hit, the manager gets the blame," Rader said. "I don't think it's right. How can you blame someone else for the fact that I'm not hitting? If anyone is to blame, it is me."

The Astro explosion of runs gave Larry Dierker his sixth victory of the year against one loss. Jerry Reuss, now 4-3, started the game for the Cards but was pulled in the second and he took the loss.

Franklin Tops State Class M in Dashes

COLUMBIA — Despite an attempt by Henry Franklin to bring his East Prairie high school its second state high school track title, Warrensburg college high out-pointed the Eagles, state indoor champs, 20-14, and claimed the outdoor track and field honors Saturday at University of Missouri Memorial stadium.

Franklin remained the top dash runner in class M by claiming 220 and 100 yard dash honors. He claimed both in the indoor meet and was the outdoor's only double winner.

East Prairie's 880-yard relay team collected the only other Eagle points by placing fourth.

Caruthersville's Chris Hoskins scored five points by placing fourth in the shot and third in the 100-yard dash while Portageville, Southeast Missouri's only other representative among the teams to place, picked up one point on Rickey Foster's fifth place in the 180-yard low hurdles.

St. Mary's of Independence won the class S title with 24 points while DeKalb was second with 23 and Springfield Greenwood next with 22.

Pitching Duel Set

Southeast Missouri's top two high school baseball pitchers, Don Miller of Sikeston and Mark Littell of Gideon, matched fast balls at VFW stadium today at 4 p.m. They sought to lead their teams to the sectional championship and into Friday's regional game at Cape Girardeau.

The SHS diamond crew of Coach N. P. McDaniel went 12 innings last week to beat another top district hurler, Mark Hogan of Cape Girardeau Central, while Gideon made easy work of Neelyville in its district encounter.

Sikeston high is the defending sectional champion. It advanced to the regionals last season before bowing to the state champion, Lafayette.

ABA Final Tuesday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Utah Stars and Kentucky Colonels head back to Utah Tuesday for the championship game of the American Basketball Association title series.

Kentucky's 105-102 victory in the nationally televised sixth game Saturday in Louisville left the series knotted at 3-3, with a sellout crwod of 13,000plus assured for the finale in Salt Lake City's Salt Palace.

If past records hold, Utah will take the title. Utah has won all six meetings between the two teams in Salt Lake City this season, including three in the playoffs.

The Salt Lake City altitude, over 4,000 feet, has bothered some Kentucky players, who said they had trouble breathing in the thin air.

"You really drag after awhile," says Colonel guard Louie Dampier. "Someti mes it's really tough to catch your breath."

Colonels president Mike Storen said club officials didn't consider the altitude enough of a problem to provide sideline oxygen for the Colonels, however.

This is only the second time in the ABA's five-year history the championship series has gone the full seven games, the first having been Pittsburgh's seven-game win over New Orleans in 1968.

BALLERINA'S MEMENTOES

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — A collection of mementoes recalling the career of one of prerevolutionary Russia's prima ballerinas has been given to the Wilbur Cross Library at the University of Connecticut.

The materials — photos, ballet programs, clippings, etc. — trace the career of Margarita Froman who died a year ago. The collection was donated by her sister, Olga Froman, who lives in Willimantic, Conn.

Born in Moscow of Swedish and Russian parents, Margarita Froman was prima ballerina with both the Bolshoi Ballet and Diaghilev's Ballets Russes.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Director David Lean has been awarded the Order of Merit by the Argentine Producers Association in recognition of his distinguished film career, it was recently announced.

Dog Bites Malden Boy

MALDEN–A small boy was bitten by a dog last week.

The victim was Nolden D. Farris, 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Farris, 919 N. Kimball Street. He was playing with companions when attacked by the dog.

The boy was taken to the Cronin Morehead Clinic for treatment of bits around the left eye and ear.

Farris said that the dog was not vaccinated as it did not have a collar or tag.

Utility Merger Would Involve SeMo Counties

ST. LOUIS (AP)–Discussions for possible merger of the two utilities were announced Thursday by Laclede Gas Co. of St. Louis and Missouri Natural Gas Co. of Farmington, Mo.

Under the proposed merger, according to the announcement, Laclede Gas would acquire at least 80 per cent of Missouri Natural's outstanding common stock.

Laclede Gas is supplier of natural gas to St. Louis city and county and to the northern half of bordering Jefferson County.

Parts of Jefferson, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Madison and Iron counties are served by Missouri Natural, which also serves Poplar Bluff in Butler County.

Any acquisition agreed on by the two utilities would be subject to approval by the Missouri Public Service Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

British playwright Thomas Morton was prolific and popular in his day, but he is now all but forgotten except for one character, Mrs. Grundy, who is never even seen on stage in "Speed the Plough" (1798), but who is always present. Dame Ashfield, The World Almanac notes, continually worries whether her neighbor, Mrs. Grundy, will think her proper and respectable. Mrs. Grundy is now a symbol of slavish conformity to conventions.

Jerry Lee Lewis And Wife Agree To Divorce Terms

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Jerry Lee Lewis and his wife agreed Wednesday to a divorce and a property settlement that would give her more than $148,000 over the next five years.

The uncontested divorce decree was issued by a circuit court judge, ending the 13-year marriage of the entertainer and his first cousin whom he married when she was 13 years old.

She charged cruel and inhuman treatment and accused Lewis of drinking constantly and "acting improperly with other women."

Mrs. Lewis filed for divorce last Nov. 9 giving her age as 26 and his as 35.

State College Budget Sails By in Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The budget for Missouri's state colleges and universities sailed through the Senate Thursday on a 27-1 vote with only one change and little debate.

Sen. Truman E. Wilson, D-St. Joseph, amended the measure to shift funds for Northeast Missouri and Northwest Missouri state colleges but did not alter total appropriations for the two schools. There was no opposition.

Wilson explained 24 per cent of the colleges' operating budgets comes from tuition. With increased out of state tuition fees, administrators are fearful of keeping the operating ratio required for the financial formula.

All his amendment did was shift about $500,000 from college funds to come from general revenue to be re-appropriated so nothing additional would come from state money, he said.

Otherwise the bill went back to the House with the cuts imposed by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Reunion of P51 Fighter Pilots To Be Held

ST. LOUIS (AP)–A reunion of World War II P51 fighter pilots May 30-31 is scheduled to be attended by Peter Townsend, former British fighter ace, and Col. Erich Hartmann, who was Germany's top fighter pilot.

The reunion is billed "Mustang Scramble" and will feature air races between Milwaukee and the East Alton, Ill., Civic Memorial Airport north of St. Louis.

Townsend, who lives near Paris, is credited with shooting down 12 German planes as an RAF pilot. He later received world-wide attention by becoming engaged to Princess Margaret. The engagement was broken after publicity concerning his previous divorce. He married a Belgian woman in 1959.

Hartmann, who recently resigned from the West German Luftwaffe, is credited with 353 aerial victories, mostly on the Eastern front against the Russians. He spent 10 years in a Russian prison camp following the war.

The reunion is sponsored by Don Volkmer, head of Volkerluft International in Addison, Tex.

Eureka Springs Will Display Arts and Crafts

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark.--The Little Switzerland of the Ozarks, will be host to the seventh annual Arts and Crafts Sidewalk Fair May 28-30.

For those three days, the sidewalks will boast a colorful array of paintings, sculpture, wood-carvings, jewelry, weaving, and many other handicrafts exhibited by more than 100 artists.

There is no admission charge and visitors strolling through town are sure to find something new around every corner.

Many of the artists and craftsmen will work and demonstrate their skills. Eureka Springs has art galleries and an abundance of shops.

There is a small entry fee and each exhibitor is responsible for setting up and displaying his work. No commission is charged for sales. The closing date for entries is Friday.

In addition to the Sidewalk Fair planned for Memorial Day weekend, the Great Passion Play will open its fourth season, May 28. A new entertainment will begin on May 27, the Fun Mountain Jubilee, with two shows daily.

Artists, craftsmen, and visitors are invited to contact the Chamber of Commerce for entry blanks and more information.

Redistribution Of Population Called Vital

KANSAS CITY (AP)--Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin said Monday that redistribution of the nation's population from coast to coast is necessary if rural areas are to be revitalized.

Hardin addressed the Midwest Regional Conference on Rural Economic Development. It was the first of four regional meetings with others scheduled in Las Vegas, Memphis and Philadelphia.

Randy South Wins Scholastic Honor

PARMA–James Lovett, assistant superintendent of Parma high school, today announced the winners of the school's highest scholastic awards.

Randy South is valedictorian, with an average of 7.35. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George South of Parma.

The salutatorian, with an average of 7.33, is Michelle Stewart, daughter of Naron Stewart of El Paso and Mrs. Elaine Austin, of Parma.

South is a member of the Parma high school drama club, the baseball team, has served on the pep club four years, and was the basketball manager for the 1970-71 season. He has played the clarinet in the high school band two years.

In 1968 he was awarded the general science medal, 1969 the biology medal, 1970, and the geometry, typing and French medals.

He is a member of the Maple Grove Baptist church and its committee of Youth Rally.

He will enter the Memphis School of Commerce, working toward a major in automation accounting and electronic data processing.

Miss Stewat has won awards in algebra I and II, English I, home economic II, shorthand I, and student activities in 1970. She received the school letters and bars for making the honor roll every quarter.

She has been majorette four years, cheerleader four years, a member of the band three years, Future Homemakers of America member four years.

She was a class officer in her freshman and junior years, an F.H.A. officer in her junior and senior year, a member of the student council three years, and an officer two years. She was elected fall festival queen in her freshman year.

She attends the First Baptist church.

She plans to enter Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

Benton Man Hurt in Crash

Paul Chiles, 53, of Benton, sustained a broken wrist and cuts in a traffic accident Thursday morning four miles north of Sikeston on highway H.

At 11:30 a.m., a 1962 Chevrolet pickup truck traveling south, driven by Everett Rister, 55, of Sikeston, and a 1971 farm tractor going north, driven by Chiles, sideswiped and the tractor turned over throwing Chiles off, the highway patrol said.

Chiles was taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital.

MARS is the destination of Mariners 8 and 9, the first American probes of the red plant since the historic photo-mapping missions in 1969. Scheduled to reach Mars in November, almost six months after launch, the spacecraft will go into orbit, the first (Mission A) 750 to 10,500 miles above the surface the second (Mission B) 500 to 17,500 miles. The Mariners weigh 2,200 pounds and have four solar panels with a total span of 22 feet 7½ inches. Attachment at bottom, below, contains cameras set to scan 70 per cent of the Martian surface on Mission A and to film the same features repeatedly, on Mission B, to detect seasonal changes.

Sedalia Man Waits 53 Years to Get Purple Heart

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) -- He had to wait nearly 53 years, but Wilfred Lee of Sedalia received his Purple Heart Thursday.

Lee, 76, was wounded Sept. 12, 1918, in World War I at St. Mihiel. An Army snafu prevented him from getting the medal.

Retired Brig. Gen. Lewis M. Means of Fayette, Mo., learned of the mistake and told Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who hounded the Pentagon until the error was rectified.

High Percentage of Young Americans Read Daily Paper

NEW YORK (AP) -- A survey shows that 73 per cent of Americans aged 14 to 25 read at least one newspaper each day, reports the Bureau of Advertising.

The bureau said Wednesday it found in a poll of 1,647 young readers that one in five youths began reading a daily newspaper when they were 7 years old or less.

About 62 per cent of those surveyed said they read the entire newspaper, spending an average 36 minutes each day with the paper.

ENROLLMENT IN PUBLIC SCHOOL KINDERGARTEN took place Friday at the Airport school. From left, enrolling are Wayne, 5, and mother, Mrs. Bill Skaggs, 846 Ruth. VA Plans St. Louis Center for Drug Treatment

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)--The Veterans Administration is planning expansion of its drug treatment center in Topeka and a new facility at St. Louis for treatment of returning Vietnam veterans.

The step was announced in Kansas City Tuesday by Donald E. Johnson, VA administrator from Washington.

Speaking on the subject of drugs in Vietnam, Johnson said "the availability is great, the potency is high and the price is cheap."

Johnson said the defense department is placing a high priority on cutting off GI drug supplies in Vietnam.

Kennett Boy Gun Victim

KENNETT--William Rex Loggins, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill West, was accidentally shot and killed at 10:15 a.m. Saturday while visiting at a friend's home.

Kennett City Police reported Loggins and several other youths had spent the night at the home of Kyle Ballenger, 12. Police said they were sitting in the living room when the Ballenger youth brought in a 16-gauge shotgun from the bedroom and pumped it once, not knowing that the gun had a shell in it. He then pointed it at the Loggins youth and pulled the trigger.

He died two hours later at the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

Whittling Judge Dies of Work

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

With the backlog of court cases building up, Judge Hoople undertook a six-month crash program to whittle away the number of cases on his calendar. He worked twice as long each day, passed up a two-week vacation and ran a tight courtroom.

Unfortunately, the court calendar proved more resistant than the good judge. He suffered a heart attack and died. In due course, his widow claimed a Workmen's Compensation award for his death.

"Sorry," was the respectful response, "but Workmen's Compensation is only paid when someone is injured on the job. Your husband wasn't injured on the job. He simply died because of a bad ticker."

"That's true," answered the widow, "but it was due to the anxieties and tensions created by the crash program. It was actually his job that killed him. Exasperations and overwork. Therefore, I'm entitled to the award."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOUR WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant an award for the death of the overworked judge?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that undue anxiety, strain and mental stress from work are frequently more devastating than mere physical injury; that it is not incredible to believe that Judge Hoople's heart failure was caused by the crash program.

(Based upon a 1969 New York Supreme Court, App. Div., Decision).

Cook a fabulous meal in a Countertop Electronic Oven

TAPPAN
FIRST IN ELECTRONIC COOKING

Enjoy all the many benefits of electronic cooking now . . . without remodeling your kitchen. New Tappan electronic oven fits on your kitchen countertop, plugs into standard outlets, can be moved to dining room, patio or den. Best of all, it's from Tappan -- the people who introduced electronic cooking for the home back in 1954.

Electronic energy is a form of high frequency radio energy. When the energy comes into contact with food, instant heating takes place.

The electronic oven cooks with time, so there are no temperatures to remember. You just set the timer dial, then push the "start" button.

Because the metal surfaces in the oven reflect energy, they don't get hot. Cleaning is easier because foods don't burn in the oven.

Throw away your pots and pans. In the new electronic oven, you cook in glass, paper or ceramic utensils . . . the same ones you serve in.

Let us demonstrate this miraculous new oven for you . . . then carry one home.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 17, the 137th day of 1971. There are 228 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

On this date:

In 1666, Congregationalists from Connecticut founded Newark, N.J.

In 1792, the New York Stock Exchange was founded.

In 1803, the first patent for a reaper was granted to Richard French and John Hawkins of New Jersey.

In 1875, the first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky.

In 1940, in World War II, the Nazis occupied Brussels, Belgium's capital.

In 1957, Egypt barred Israeli ships from the Suez Canal.

Ten years ago: South Korea's Premier John M. Chang resigned after a revolt by the armed forces.

Five years ago: Rumania was reported pressing the Soviets for veto power over Russian nuclear weapons based on Rumanian soil.

One year ago: The U.S. commander in Cambodia reported part of the field headquarters of the Communist command had been captured.

"CAN'T YOU JUST TROT AROUND THE NEIGHBORHOOD LIKE OTHER DOGS?"

Time Factor Faces Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Time begins to pinch Missouri's Legislature this week.

Leaders of both houses have announced they will spend much of the week debating their own bills, trying to get them passed and sent across the rotunda to the other branch.

No cutoff dates have been set. But from a practical standpoint, any House bill still on the House calendar or any Senate bill still on the Senate calendar by the end of this week would have only a remote chance of passage unless it got special handling.

Under new annual session ground rules, work on bills must end June 15, less than a month away.

When it came back to work today, the House faced debate on a controversial bill to let public employes organize and bargain collectively on wages and hours.

Labor unions want that right spelled out in the law because their collective bargaining position is under a legal cloudy now and the right of public employes to strike has been challenged repeatedly.

Also on the House docket as special orders of business for today are bills to:

Permit interstate compacts on pest control

Provide subdistricts in the election of junior college trustees.

Prevent national banks from taking tax credit on their tangible personal property.

Designate Jan. 15 as "Martin Luther King Day"although not a state holiday.

The Senate, easily sidetracked in legalistic controversy, does not follow the practice of setting bills as special order of business but has many on its calendar which could produce lengthy arguments.

One is a truck length bill designed to help double deck automobile carriers which shuttle across the state on interstate highways.

Another would raise from $50 to $100 the breaking point where theft of property becomes a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

Also pending, 17 bills down the line, is a bill designed to solve a problem at the State Training School for Boys at Boonville by setting up a system for transferring dangerous or incorrigible inmates to adult penal institutions.

Meanwhile solution of such major problems as the budget and congressional redistricting are nowhere in sight.

Bitterness between the two houses over appropriations has become a legislative trademark and the 1971 session is no exception.

The money squabbles are supposed to be ended by June 8 but the stage was set for a last minute crisis when Rep. E.J. Cantrell, D-Overland, House Appropriations chairman, said he wasn't worried about the June 8 deadline.

Fletcher Top Gideon Scholar

GIDEON — David Carter Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher, is the valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class of Gideon high school and Patricia Kay Lunbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Lunbeck is the salutatorian.

Carter has received awards in English I, II, and III, general biology and world history and honorable mention in geometry, French I and II and Algebra I and II.

Carter was chosen as a member of Who's Who of American High Schools. He was a member of the football team three years and won an award in football in 1970.

He is a member of the National Honor Society and served on the student council two years. He plans to attend college after graduation.

Miss Lunbeck has received awards in basic business and A team debate, received honorable mentions in world history, English II and III and American history.

She has been a member of the marching and concert bands and was drum majorette her senior year. She served six years as junior high and senior high cheerleader. She was chosen by the students as president of the student body her senior year and is a member of the National Honor Society.

She was selected "Most Studious" and Miss G.H.S. Miss Lumsden was also chosen for Who's Who of American High Schools and Outstanding Teenager of America.

She plans to attend college at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau, where she has received a regent scholarship. She plans to major in pre-pharmacy.

Balance of Payments Hits Record Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit in the U. S. balance of payments rose to a record level in the first three months of the year, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said the deficit on the official reserve transactions basis reached a seaonally adjusted $5.5 billion in the first quarter.

The official reserve transaction basis represented all tranactions with foreign governments and foreign central banks. The deficit on the basis deteriorated by $2.2 billion from the last three months of 1970, the department said.

Secretay of the Treasury John B. Connolly gave the figures to the Senate Finance Committee at a trade hearing and said, "Clearly, that level of deficit is not sustainable."

Stop Sign Ignored, Two Hurt

MATTHEWS — A Matthews mother and daughter were injured in a two-car mishap at 2:30 p.m. Sunday on highway 80, three miles east of Matthews.

A 1962 Chevrolet traveling east, driven by Ruby Taylor, 33, of Matthews, was struck by a northbound 1971 Buick, driven by Theophil Oberndorfer, 56, of Uniontown, the highway patrol said, when Oberndorfer pulled from a stop sign into the path of the Taylor car.

Mrs. Taylor sustained face cuts and her daughter, Donna, sustained an injured right knee. Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston.

Outsiders Judge City By Ads

Earl Jewell, advertising manager for the Daily Standard, spoke to the Optimist club this morning at the Holiday Inn, on the value of advertising. He said "Advertising is the backbone of any community. Citizens judge your community on advertising. If your local home town newspaper is full of advertising, then the outsider looks upon your community as a thriving and growing community."

He was introduced by Charles Brady, program chairman.

"You may not realize it," Jewel said, "but everything that you do from the time you get up, until you retire, the product you use is an advertised one. The man who doesn't advertise may know his business, but nobody else does."

"The word itself is like a good lube job, that keeps the wheels of business moving. Advertising creates a demand, and demand creates more sales, more sales creates more production, and more production creates more jobs.

Jewel concluded that a survey published nationally disclosed that 80 per cent of the men and 95 per cent of the women read advertising.

Jewel has spent 42 years in advertising.

Club President Ted Elliott announced that the club representative, Thomas Lemmons, was among the six finalists, in the state optimist speech contest.
